SENATOR FORAKER AS THE EULOGIST

Effort Making to Have Him Deliver An Oration on the Late President.

VERY APPROPRIATE CHOICE

Homer Laughlin an Ohio Visitor—Columbiana County Prisoner Loses an Eye By an Accident—News of the State Capital.

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, Sept. 21.—The suggestion has been made that Ohio's great orator, Senator Joseph Benson Foraker, deliver the eulogy on the late president in the halls of congress. Senator Foraker twice placed the name of the fallen leader in nomination for the presidency and once for governor. The feeling is prevalent about the state capital that the senator should be the one chosen for this duty. His splendid powers of rhetoric, his brilliancy of thought and his deep knowledge of the martyred president eminently fit him for the task. And besides, McKinley was an Ohio man, and it would seem most appropriate that the orator should come from this state.

In speaking about the matter State Treasurer I. B. Cameron said: "It is entirely fitting and proper that Senator Foraker should deliver the memorial address on the martyred president. He can do it well—perhaps better than any one else."

This is the sentiment of practically every state official.

Curtis Knight, a Columbiana county prisoner, who was received at the penitentiary October 10, 1900, to serve two years for burglary, sustained an accident yesterday in which he lost the sight of his right eye. Knight is employed at a heating furnace in the hoe shop and was drawing a hoe from the furnace when another blade adhered to it. He used a pair of tongs to force them apart, and while striking the hoes the tongs flew up, one of the handles piercing his eye. He was taken to the hospital at once and an effort was made to save the optic, but it is believed the sight cannot be restored, as the ball of the eye was burned by the intense heat of the tongs. Knight's short term will expire May 15, 1902. He was very much distressed over the accident.

Peter L. Grove and Charles Weisner, both of Salem, were in the city yesterday. Mr. Grove visits Columbus regularly and started south from here. Mr. Weisner was here on business. Lewis Harris, of Salem, has entered the law department at the Ohio State university. Charles Huston, of Lisbon, accompanied by his daughters, Nellie and Clare, who have been at Covington, Ky., and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Robbins, who has been visiting at Cambridge, Ind., stopped off in this city yesterday while on the way to Lisbon. While here they visited Mrs. Robbins' daughter, Mrs. Cope, the wife of State Treasurer W. T. Cope, at one time a resident of Salineville.

Homer Laughlin, for many years a manufacturing potter of East Liverpool, now of Los Angeles, Cal., was at the obsequies. He was one of President McKinley's staunchest friends. He was a strong supporter of Major McKinley the first time he ran for congress and was his friend ever since. He entertained the president in his home at Los Angeles on the occasion of the chief executive's trip to the Pacific coast last spring. Mr. Laughlin and family have been touring the northern and eastern portions of the country. Mr. Laughlin's health is better than it has been for years.

The special train which took the state officials to Canton returned about 1:30 Friday morning. There were several slight delays, but no accidents occurred. As has been stated, the trip was arranged by Messrs. Cameron, Ratchford and Morris. The Columbiana county contingent at the state capital which accompanied the party which went to Canton met many of their neighbors at the funeral.

The American Car company, a foreign corporation, capitalized at $88,000,000, yesterday qualified to do business in this state. It controls plants at Cleveland, Hamilton, Dayton, Youngstown, Toledo and Conneaut. The application papers bore the seal of the law firm of ex-Speaker Thomas B. Reed.

GEORGE T. BLAKE.

ORDERS TO START

RECEIVED AT THE TIN PLATE MILL AT LISBON.

The Plant Will Be in Operation Monday—Labor Troubles in Abeyance.

Lisbon, Sept. 21.—(Special)—The trouble which threatened yesterday between the Lisbon lodge of the Amalgamated Association and the management of the Beaver tin mill, seems to be settled for the present. Manager Geo. D. Evans today announced that the mill will start Monday morning. Reese Watkins, Lewis Bowman and Cyrus Main, three of the workmen, were notified not to report for duty until further notice. Their cases will be taken up by the executive board of the association and also by the district manager, William Banfield, and it will probably be some time before they know their fate.

It was reported that the other employees would not return to work if their three fellow workmen were discharged, but all have now decided to begin and await the decision of the executive committee.

The Lisbon plant has been idle since July 1. About 750 men were affected, and the business of the town has suffered severely. Seven mills will start Monday and run three turns daily.

WOMEN FOUGHT

AND ONE OF THEM WAS FINED IN A LOCAL COURT.

Mrs. Lillie Daily Gave Mrs. Mary Trover a Throwing and Was Arrested.

It is very seldom that Justice McCarron neglects to "throw out" when the reporters call on him, but he did overlook this morning to mention one case which was tried in his court last evening. The reporter happened to be in the squire's office when the case was filed, and this afternoon, when the court had stepped out to take a few minutes' vacation, the scribe inspected his docket.

Judging from the intelligence given in the docket it appears that Mrs. Mary Trover and Mrs. Lillie Daily had some domestic difficulty, which the latter undertook to settle by giving Mrs. Trover a thrashing. This did not convince Mrs. Trover that it was time to kiss and make up, but on the contrary she concluded to bring her assailant to justice. Yesterday afternoon she filed an affidavit in Justice McCarron's court charging Mrs. Daily with assault and battery. Constable Powell brought the accused into court, whereupon she entered a plea of guilty. The justice imposed a fine of $1 and costs, which the woman agreed to pay. Otherwise she will be taken to the county jail.

FUNERAL TOMORROW

East Liverpool People Will Attend the Obsequies of Secretary Duff's Father.

Funeral services over the remains of Michael Duffy, who died at his home in Wheeling Thursday evening, will be conducted at St. Joseph's cathedral tomorrow afternoon at 1:30.

Mr. Duffy was the father of Secretary T. J. Duffy, of the National Brotherhood, and is survived by a wife and 13 children.

President A. S. Hughes, Leroy Orr and wife, Pat Quinn and several others from this city will attend the funeral.

KNEW EMMA GOLDMAN

Ed Kelly, a Local Plumber, Lived Neighbor to the Anarchist Leader in Chicago.

Ed Kelly, a plumber employed by T. E. Nagle, claims to be acquainted with Emma Goldman, the anarchist leader. Mr. Kelly formerly lived in Chicago, his home in that city being only a few doors from where the notorious female made her headquarters at that time. He says she is an ill-bred woman and always bore a bad name. Mr. Kelly says she drank frequently to excess, and associated with men and women of questionable reputation.

A Wellsville Case Appealed. Lisbon, Sept. 21.—(Special)—A transcript of a civil action from "Squire A. G. McKenzie's court in Wellsville, in which William Edwards & Co. were given judgment for $181.19 against Ed Groves, has been filed in common pleas court. The defendant appeals.

HARTER NAMED FOR THE BENCH

Harmonious Convention of Republicans of Three Counties at Canton.

BUT ONE NAME PRESENTED

And the Nomination Quickly Made By Acclamation — Highly Eulogistic Resolutions of the Late President Adopted.

Canton, Sept. 21.—(Special)—The nomination of Hon. Henry W. Harter for common pleas judge in the second subdivision of the Ninth judicial district was quickly accomplished at the Republican convention which met here this morning.

Judge P. M. Smith, of Wellsville, was made temporary chairman and W. L. Hanley, of Carrollton, temporary secretary, this organization later being made permanent. The following committees were named:

Credentials—I. H. Taylor, Stark; W. J. Kirkpatrick, Carroll; Robert Ellison, Columbiana.

Resolutions—James J. Grimes, Stark; D. J. Morgan, Carroll; P. M. Smith, Columbiana.

Permanent organization—Delegate Storer, Stark; W. S. Atchison, Columbiana, and J. A. Lee, Carroll.

Judiciary—H. B. Webber, Stark; W. L. Hanley, Carroll; Ed A. King, Columbiana.

Immediately on assembling the committee on resolutions proposed a long and eloquent series of resolutions in eulogy of the late President McKinley, commending his goodness, wisdom and statesmanship in the highest terms and denouncing the crime that robbed the nation of its chosen executive. These resolutions were highly applauded and unanimously adopted.

Representatives of Columbiana and Carroll counties announced that neither county had any candidate of its own for the judicial position to be filled. Thereupon H. B. Webber, of Stark, placed Hon. Henry W. Harter, of Canton, in nomination. On motion of Ed A. King, of Columbiana, the nomination was made unanimously and by acclamation.

This afternoon Stark and Carroll Republicans in convention renominated Senator Wilhelm, of Stark, for the state senate without opposition.

COST HIM $20

Stranger in Lisbon Insulted a Lady And Was Heavily Fined.

Lisbon, Sept. 21.—(Special)—W. J. Driscoll was fined $20 and costs today by Mayor Farrell for insulting a woman on the streets. He is the third man convicted on such a charge this week. He says he is from New York.

Merely a Brush Fire.

Somebody mistaking a burning brush pile for a burning house called the fire department to the home of John Barton, Ogden street, last night. The department made a very quick run, but was compelled to hitch four horses to the wagon in order to get up the hill.

HIGH SCHOOL SMOKERS ON THE ANXIOUS SEAT

The inability of a large number of high school boys to do without a few inhalations from the fascinating cigarette during school promises to get them into a bad predicament.

For some time past, in fact ever since the present term began, the boys have been in the habit of smoking in the toilet rooms in the basement. The practice became so general that it attracted the attention of the principal. A number of the boys were caught and reprimanded, but this had little effect other than to bring the inventive genius of some of the youngsters into play.

About three weeks ago a few of the clever ones discovered a small room in the basement near the heaters which is used to gather pure ventilation, and from which point the fresh air is distributed throughout the building in connection with the heating system. It was an ideal spot for the purpose and the students at once began the work of fitting up the new quarters. A table was procured and one chair was spirited away without its absence being noticed. In addition to this a nail keg with a board

CHOSE OFFICERS AND ADJOURNED

The County W. C. T. U. Convention in Every Way a Profitable One.

MANY RECOMMENDATIONS

To Promote the Work of the Union, Strong Resolutions Adopted in Support of the Fundamental Principles of the Organization.

The final business session of the Columbiana County W. C. T. U. convention ended at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon and the ladies paid a visit to Rock Springs.

The meeting was devoted to the election of officers, the appointment of superintendents for department work and the selection of a place for next year's convention.

The election of officers for the coming year resulted as follows:

President, Mrs. Mary Arrison, Salem; corresponding secretary, Miss Laura Schilling, Salem; recording secretary, Miss Ida C. Yates, Winona; treasurer, Mrs. Howard, East Liverpool.

The convention then selected the following superintendents:

Social meetings—Mrs. Ida Blazier, Salineville.

Flower Mission—Mrs. Gruwell, Damascus.

Mothers' meetings—Laura Schilling, Salem.

Evangelistic—Rhoda Walton, Winona.

Jail work—Mrs. Marie Patterson, Lisbon.

Franchise—Mrs. Alice Bunn, Salineville.

Sabbath school—Mrs. McCannon, Rogers.

Scientific Temperance—Mrs. Ross, Salem.

Purity and Anti-Cigarette—Mrs. Hawkins, East Liverpool.

Following is the report made by the committee on plan of work:

First—We recommend that as soon as possible the unions hold evangelistic meetings from two to five days.

Second—To secure more effective work in Loyal Temperance Legions.

Third—The bill for raising the age of protection for our girls and boys, and all other bills that may come up along our line of work should be pushed with the utmost vigilance.

Fourth—That we work for the enforcement of the law against selling cigarettes or tobacco in any form.

Fifth—That the unions should work for the better observance of the Sabbath, arrange for a union mass meeting, distribute literature.

Sixth—That our unions see to it that the scientific temperance instruction law is enforced in our schools.

Seventh—We would recommend that the bill for equal suffrage should be vigorously sustained by local unions, and they should employ all available means to be educated along this line.

Eighth—We recommend that each union have a superintendent of social and also mothers' meetings.

MRS. HOWARD.

MRS. WALTON.

Winona was selected as the next place of meeting, and the mid-year executive session will be held at Salem in June, 1902.

The evening session, which was in charge of Mrs. E. Norine Law, a national officer, was called to order at 8 o'clock. A brief song service was conducted by Mrs. Law, after which the resolutions adopted by the convention were given a public reading. Following is a summary of the matters covered by the resolutions:

The resolutions, at great length, set forth the basic principles of the W. C. T. U. as personal purity and prohibition. Personal purity includes total abstinence from all injurious drugs, and a white life for both men and women, God being no more a respecter of sex than of persons. To promote such purity, the union has the foundation departments of hygiene, heredity and non-alcoholic medication, the latter having a practical illustration in the Temperance hospital at Chicago.

The resolutions further declare that prohibition stands for national purity. As a means for its establishment, equal suffrage and legislation are favored, and these principles are to be promoted by education and agitation—scientific temperance instruction, physical education in the public schools, Sunday school work, oratorical contests, work among colored people, railroad employees, sailors, soldiers, miners, lumbermen, foreigners; at fairs, through social meetings, in infirmities, prisons and hospitals—"thus by all means and in all places teaching mercy, purity and peace. So step by step we climb to the pinnacle of righteousness, looking unto Christ, the Author and Finisher of Our Faith."

The resolutions conclude by thanking the many kind friends in East Liverpool who have assisted in making the stay of the visitors here pleasant and profitable.

The meeting was concluded by an address from Mrs. Law. The members of the convention had expected a rare treat when this part of the program was reached, and they were not disappointed. Mrs. Law devoted her remarks to subjects which are of the most vital importance to the W. C. T. U. throughout the United States. Her talk was both interesting and instructive, and was much enjoyed by the large audience.

The meeting was closed with the benediction, thus ending one of the most interesting conventions ever held by the county organization.

CONVENTION ENDED

CHRISTIAN MISSIONARY MEETING AN INTERESTING ONE.

Adjournment Reached Late Last Evening After Much Business.

The district convention of the Ohio Christian Missionary society ended last evening, and although the attendance was not as large as many had hoped, the meeting was one of the most profitable ever held.

The sessions yesterday afternoon and last evening were devoted to the interests of the Christian Woman's Board of Missions, and was opened with the report of the district superintendent of junior work, Miss Maud Thompson, of Steubenville, who has had charge of this branch for the past year, and her report was listened to with more than the usual interest.

She was followed by Miss Carrie Taylor, of Rogers, who read a paper on "C. W. B. M. Work Among the Colored People."

Miss Mary Lyons, of Steubenville, state organizer of the auxiliary, delivered an address upon the subject "Influences of the Auxiliary." This discourse was very interesting and showed a thorough knowledge of the subject on the part of the speaker.

The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to important business of the organization, and it was late in the evening before adjournment was taken.

The meeting last evening was opened with a praise service in charge of Rev. Mr. Allison, and this was followed by an address on "Methods of an Enterprising Church," by Rev. W. T. Barnes, of Wellsville.

"Why Should the Church of Christ Promote the Christian Endeavor Movement?" was the subject of a very fine discourse by Rev. J. W. Kerns, of Steubenville. This was the last number on the program and the congregation was dismissed with the benediction by Rev. Mr. Kerns.

Pleased the Audience.

"Side Tracked," the farce comedy presented last night at the Grand, was greeted by a good house and its good points were thoroughly appreciated. Jule Walters, the "gentleman tramp," while not the whole show, was a large factor in making it a success. Tonight "The Evil Eye."

ALMOST APPLIED THE WHITWASH

Local Team Let the Canton Marines Down With a Lonely Little Score.

GAME WAS WELL PLAYED

McShane Pitched Wonderfully Fine Ball And Had the Visitors at His Mercy—Rising And Webb Each Scored Home Runs.

In a well played game East Liverpool beat the Marines of Canton, yesterday afternoon at the West End grounds. This is the second time this season the Stark county contingent has bitten the dust at the hands of "Walsh's Wonders," but it is not to be denied that they certainly die hard.

McShane's masterful pitching was too much for the Cantonians and they went down before his speedy twisters like fleas from a dog in swimming. He did wonderful work and pitched one of the best games ever seen in the city. His support was splendid and the opposing players wished more than once that the home plate could be moved down to first or second base so they would be afforded a possible chance of reaching it.

The only run scored by the visitors was of a questionable nature, and it is the almost unanimous verdict of those who witnessed the game that they were fairly shut out. It was in the sixth inning that the run was scored. Mauck sent a three-bagger to center and the next man to bat sent a liner down to short, which Rising picked up. As he sent the ball over to Heckathorne, Mauck started home. Heckathorne caught the runner coming to first and then threw quickly to Emmerling, who stood directly on the home plate. Mauck slid into the plate, but Emmerling had the ball on aim in short order—in fact, as it looked from the grand stand—before Mauck was within a foot of the base. Umpire Howard called him safe and the fans groaned. Mauck himself was certain he was out and the other players of his team had started to go out into the field before they understood that he had been called safe. This was strong evidence that the umpire made a bad mistake, but the score counted just the same.

Mauck, who did the twirling for the Marines, has been playing all season with the Southern league and is supposed to be a smooth article. However, he fared just as many other "stars" who have got their bumps at the hands of the local clubbers. Eleven hits were secured off his delivery. Rising and Webb each scoring a homer. But Mauck never lost his nerve at any stage of the game, and had perfect control all the way through.

In justice to the Canton boys it must be said they are not only first-class players, but each and every one of them are gentlemen. At no time was there any wrangling. They had no fault to find with the umpire's decisions and the spectators continually commented on their clean playing. In fact, many of the female rooters were heard to remark: "I wish our boys would let the Canton boys win; they are such nice boys."

East Liverpool went to bat at the start of the game, but the first inning was a blank for both sides. The second produced a run for the locals, and the third passed as the first. The fourth gave the home team another score. In the visitors' half of this inning McShane pitched himself out of a dangerous place. With two men on bases and only one out he fanned the other two in double quick order. This brought forth applause and "Mac" was declared to be worthy of a crown.

It was in the fifth that Rising connected with the leather for a home run. Mauck tossed up a nice one which Percy swatted with terrific force. The ball shot over the bag on first and Nist did not overpower it in right field until the runner had circled the diamond. Webb made his homer in the seventh. He sent a line drive through the left field fence and would have had time to have made five or six runs before the ball was fielded back to the pitcher. The fifth tally of the locals was made in the eighth, but neither in that inning nor

The evening session, which was in charge of Mrs. E. Norine Law, a national officer, was called to order at 8 o'clock. A brief song service was conducted by Mrs. Law, after which the resolutions adopted by the convention were given a public reading. Following is a summary of the matters covered by the resolutions:

The resolutions, at great length, set forth the basic principles of the W. C. T. U. as personal purity and prohibition. Personal purity includes total abstinence from all injurious drugs, and a white life for both men and women. God being no more a respecter of sex than of persons. To promote such purity, the union has the foundation departments of hygiene, heredity and non-alcoholic medication, the latter having a practical illustration in the Temperance hospital at Chicago.

The resolutions further declare that prohibition stands for national purity. As a means for its establishment, equal suffrage and legislation are favored, and these principles are to be promoted by education and agitation—scientific temperance instruction, physical education in the public schools, Sunday school work, oratorical contests, work among colored people, railroad employes, sailors, soldiers, miners, lumbermen, foreigners; at fairs, through social meetings, in infirmities, prisons and hospitals—"thus by all means and in all places teaching mercy, purity and peace. So step by step we climb to the pinnacle of righteousness, looking unto Christ, the Author and Finisher of Our Faith."

The resolutions conclude by thanking the many kind friends in East Liverpool who have assisted in making the stay of the visitors here pleasant and profitable.

The meeting was concluded by an address from Mrs. Law. The members of the convention had expected a rare treat when this part of the program was reached, and they were not disappointed. Mrs. Law devoted her remarks to subjects which are of the most vital importance to the W. C. T. U. throughout the United States. Her talk was both interesting and instructive, and was much enjoyed by the large audience.

The meeting was closed with the benediction, thus ending one of the most interesting conventions ever held by the county organization.

CONVENTION ENDED

CHRISTIAN MISSIONARY MEETING AN INTERESTING ONE.

Adjournment Reached Late Last Evening After Much Business.

The district convention of the Ohio Christian Missionary society ended last evening, and although the attendance was not as large as many had hoped, the meeting was one of the most profitable ever held.

The sessions yesterday afternoon and last evening were devoted to the interests of the Christian Woman's Board of Missions, and was opened with the report of the district superintendent of junior work. Miss Maud Thompson, of Steubenville, has had charge of this branch for the past year, and her report was listened to with more than the usual interest.

She was followed by Miss Carrie Taylor, of Rogers, who read a paper on "C. W. B. M. Work Among the Colored People."

Miss Mary Lyons, of Steubenville, state organizer of the auxiliary, delivered an address upon the subject "Influences of the Auxiliary." This discourse was very interesting and showed a thorough knowledge of the subject on the part of the speaker.

The remainder of the afternoon was devoted to important business of the organization, and it was late in the evening before adjournment was taken.

The meeting last evening was opened with a praise service in charge of Rev. Mr. Allison, and this was followed by an address on "Methods of an Enterprising Church," by Rev. W. T. Barnes, of Wellsville.

"Why Should the Church of Christ Promote the Christian Endeavor Movement?" was the subject of a very fine discourse by Rev. J. W. Kerns, of Steubenville. This was the last number on the program and the congregation was dismissed with the benediction by Rev. Mr. Kerns.

Pleased the Audience.

"Side Tracked," the farce comedy presented last night at the Grand, was greeted by a good house and its good points were thoroughly appreciated. Jule Walters, the "gentleman tramp," while not the whole show, was a large factor in making it a success. Tonight "The Evil Eye."

ALMOST APPLIED THE WHITEWASH

Local Team Let the Canton Marines Down With a Lonely Little Score.

CAME WAS WELL PLAYED

McShane Pitched Wonderfully Fine Ball And Had the Visitors at His Mercy—Rising and Webb Each Scored Home Runs.

In a well played game East Liverpool beat the Marines, of Canton, yesterday afternoon at the West End grounds. This is the second time this season the Stark county contingent has bitten the dust at the hands of "Walsh's Wonders," but it is not to be denied that they certainly die hard.

McShane's masterful pitching was too much for the Cantonians and they went down before his speedy twisters like fleas from a dog in swimming. He did wonderful work and pitched one of the best games ever seen in the city. His support was splendid and the opposing players wished more than once that the home plate could be moved down to first or second base so they would be afforded a possible chance of reaching it.

The only run scored by the visitors was of a questionable nature, and it is the almost unanimous verdict of those who witnessed the game that they were fairly shut out. It was in the sixth inning that the run was scored. Mauck sent a three-bagger to center and the next man to bat sent a liner down to short, which Rising picked up. As he sent the ball over to Heckathorne, Mauck started home. Heckathorne caught the runner coming to first and then threw quickly to Emmerling, who stood directly on the home plate. Mauck slid into the plate, but Emmerling had the ball on aim in short order—in fact, as it looked from the grand stand—before Mauck was within a foot of the base.

Umpire Howard called him safe and the fans groaned. Mauck himself was certain he was out and the other players of his team had started to go out into the field before they understood that he had been called safe. This was strong evidence that the umpire made a bad mistake, but the score counted just the same.

Mauck, who did the twirling for the Marines, has been playing all season with the Southern league and is supposed to be a smoothie article. However, he fared just as many other "stars" who have got their bumps at the hands of the local clubbers. Eleven hits were secured off his delivery. Rising and Webb each scoring a homer. But Mauck never lost his nerve at any stage of the game, and had perfect control all the way through.

In justice to the Canton boys it must be said they are not only first-class players, but each and every one of them are gentlemen. At no time was there any wrangling. They had no fault to find with the umpire's decisions and the spectators continually commented on their clean playing. In fact, many of the female rooters were heard to remark: "I wish our boys would let the Canton boys win; they are such nice boys."

East Liverpool went to bat at the start of the game, but the first inning was a blank for both sides. The second produced a run for the locals, and the third passed as the first. The fourth gave the home team another score. In the visitors' half of this inning McShane pitched himself out of a dangerous place. With two men on bases and only one out he fanned the other two in double-quick order. This brought forth applause and "Mac" was declared to be worthy of a crown.

It was in the fifth that Rising connected with the leather for a home run. Mauck tossed up a nice one which Percy swatted with terrific force. The ball shot over the bag on first and Nist did not overpower it in right field until the runner had circled the diamond. Webb made his homer in the seventh. He sent a line drive through the left field fence and would have had time to have made five or six runs before the ball was fielded back to the pitcher. The fifth tally of the locals was made in the eighth, but neither in that inning nor

HIGGINSON COT IN ANSWER.

Said He Thought Colon Could Have
Been Destroyed on May 31—Harber
Said He Coaled Ship In as Rough
Weather as About Santiago.

Washington, Sept. 21.—The Schley court of inquiry reconvened and before adjournment examined four witnesses. An important incident was the decision of the court withdrawing a question, put by itself, asking a witness to give his opinion concerning a point in controversy. The witness was Rear Admiral Higginson, who participated in the Santiago campaign as captain of the battleship Massachusetts. This vessel at one time was a part of the flying squadron, commanded by Commodore Schley, and the court asked him to state whether all possible measures were taken to capture or destroy the Spanish vessel Christobal Colon as it lay in Santiago harbor from May 27 to June 1, 1898. Counsel for Admiral Schley objected to the question on the ground that a reply would involve an opinion and not a statement of facts.

Judge Advocate Lemly admitted that the precedents were against questions of this character, and the court withdrew this interrogatory. It is generally admitted that this decision will have the effect of materially shortening the term of the court, as will also the court's manifest intention to cut out irrelevant questions and all hearsay testimony. In several cases the witnesses were admonished to relate only events coming within their own observation.

The witnesses Friday were Rear Admiral Higginson, who commanded the battleship Massachusetts during the Spanish war; Captain C. M. Chester, who accompanied the cruiser Cincinnati; Major Thomas N. Wood, of the marine corps, who commanded the marines on the Massachusetts, and Commander Giles B. Harber, who was executive officer of the Texas, the latter being on the stand when the court adjourned. The attendance of the public was small.

PORTION OF TESTIMONY

OF ADMIRAL HIGGINSON.

The testimony of Admiral Higginson was in part as follows:

"Why did you not go in and destroy the Colon in the engagement on May 31?" Judge Advocate Lemly asked the witness.

"Because we were not ordered to do so," replied the witness.

Later on the witness volunteered the statement: "I think the Colon could have been destroyed where she lay at anchor that day."

Admiral Higginson said in reply to questions from Captain Lemly that there were no written orders and so far as he could recall the only verbal orders were to "go in."

SOME WRITTEN QUESTIONS
ASKED BY THE COURT.

The judge advocate then offered Admiral Higginson's report of the 5th of August, saying the report had been made in line of duty. Judge Wilson, of counsel for Admiral Schley, said no objection would be made, but that counsel for the applicant did not desire the unobjected acceptance of the report to operate as a precedent.

Captain Lemly announced that he had no further questions to ask of Admiral Higginson, and the attorneys for Admiral Schley said they had no questions to put. It was then said by Captain Lemly that the court had some questions of its own to ask.

These were written and the first was concerning the elevation of the guns during the bombardment of the Colon on May 31st. The reply was that at first they were 7,800 feet and later 9,000 feet. The next question was as to whether "there was any place of shelter near Santiago where the 'flying squadron' could have coaled after its arrival at Santiago. Admiral Higginson replied that Guantanamo was only 40 miles to the east.

The third question, coming as it did, from the court, created some of a sensation, which was added to by the reply. The question was: "Was every effort made by Admiral Schley to destroy or capture the Spanish steamer Colon, as she lay at anchor in the harbor at Santiago, between the 27th and 31st of May?"

THE WITNESS REFLECTED ON SCHLEY'S CONDUCT.

"Object," "Object," "Object," came from each of Admiral Schley's counsel, but before a halt could be called the witness had replied, "No, I don't think it was."

The question and the reply led to a legal controversy. The question was withdrawn by Admiral Dewey.

Captain Chester related an interview he had had with Admiral Schley on board the Brooklyn off the south coast of Cuba, on May 20, 1898. He had told the admiral that from his examination of the charts he believed coaling feasible, but he thought it would be done under great disadvantages. He had expressed the opinion that boats might be used or that a more secure point might be gained under the leas, 30 miles to eastward.

Major Thomas N. Wood, of the marine corps, who commanded the marine force on the Massachusetts during the Spanish war, testified to the circumstances connected with that vessel's operations during the siege of Santiago. He said that the second day after Santiago bay was reached by the "flying squadron" he had seen the Christobal Colon lying inside the harbor; that there was at that time another Spanish vessel of the Viscaya class partly visible. He thought both were in view for three or four days. The witness also said that when Admiral Schley had come aboard the Massachusetts previous to the bombardment of the Colon, on May 31, he had heard that officer say to Captain Higginson: "We are going in, but we will not go in sufficiently near to endanger the vessels." He had been told that the distance was to be 10,000 feet.

After the bombardment ceased, Major Woods said, the Spanish shore batteries continued to fire at the American ships. At this point he had gone forward, where he had again seen Commodore Schley.

"Did you hear orders or instructions given by Commodore Schley after the bombardment?" asked the judge advocate. The witness replied:

"I went upon the superstructure to ask if we were going in again or going any closer, so as to know whether we would have a chance to use the six-inch batteries, of which I was in command, and I heard, as I believe, Commodore Schley say to Captain Higginson: 'Starboard your helm and let's get out of this.'"

"How clear is your recollection? Were these his exact words?"

"As I remember, these were the exact words, and at the time I considered them as having been made by Commodore Schley. There were quite a number of people up there on the forward part of the deck at that time, and from the recognition of the voice, and the general direction from which it came, I took it to be a remark made by the flag officer. I suppose I was probably eight feet away from the speaker when I heard this remark made."

DECLARED HE HEARD

IT LISTENINGLY.

"Did you hear it distinctly?"

"I heard it fairly distinctly. There was a bit of confusion going on at the time caused by persons walking around."

Captain Giles P. Harber, now naval attaché at Paris and St. Petersburg, who was executive officer on board the Texas during the Spanish war, was asked in the absence of Captain Philip to give a detailed account of the operations of that vessel during the war, and he did so. His testimony was in part:

"The Texas had been a part of the 'flying squadron,' and the witness said that when they steamed for Cienfuegos the flagship had signalled 'We go to Cienfuegos to bag the Spaniards; wish you good luck.'"

In reply to questions he said that when Cienfuegos was reached earth works were discovered there, but no effort was made to destroy them.

"Now, Captain," the judge advocate said, "I want to ask you, as executive officer of the Texas, in case of the sudden death or disability of Captain Philip, who would have taken command of that vessel?"

"I would naturally have," was the reply.

"What instructions did you have, written or verbal, respecting the order of battle which the 'flying squadron' was to follow in case the enemy should suddenly appear?"

"The matter was never broached

scour and wear out surfaces.

The commanding officer never gave me any, nor did I know that he had any."

"You had no knowledge, then, of the existence of any order of battle or written or verbal instructions covering such a contingency?"

"No, sir."

MARBLEHEAD RESPONDED

TO SIGNALS.

The witness said that while lying off Cienfuegos he, with others, had seen lights from the shore which, from their nature, they took to be signals, but that no attention had been paid to them until the 24th, when the Marblehead had arrived, and, he understood, had responded to the signals and communicated with those on shore.

He also said that the Texas had been in no great need of coal while lying off Cienfuegos, but that it could have taken more, and would have been glad to get it. The Iowa had coaled there, he said. Describing the sail to Santiago the witness said there had been rough weather, but that the Texas could have made better time than it did. He said that when the squadron arrived in sight of the Yale and other American vessels off Santiago, on the evening of May 26, all the vessels cleared for action, thinking up ways to get into the harbor, to which the reply was, "I think we have."

ing they were vessels of the enemy. When they discovered their mistake Captain Philip had signalled Captain Wise, of the Yale, saying:

Mr. Hanna, who conducted the examination of this witness, asked him particularly concerning the trip from Santiago toward Key West when the squadron started for the latter place in order to coal.

He said that no effort had been made on the 26th, the day of the arrival off Santiago, to coal ship.

The questions and replies on this point were as follows.

"Have you had any experience in coaling vessels in the waters of the West Indies or in that part of the world?"

"I had some experience shortly before, while lying at Tortugas."

"If, as executive officer of the Texas, you had received instructions at that time on the 26th to coal ship what would you have done?"

"I would have coaled ship probably."

"Was there anything in the conditions of weather or the sea then prevailing to have prevented the Texas from taking coal on the 26th?"

HAD COALED SHIP

IN AS HEAVY SEA.

"On the evening of the 26th I do not think the sea was any heavier than existed when I successfully coaled ship at Tortugas, although the coiller was a heavier vessel. I coaled ship in Tortugas with a considerable sea, the coiller having only about 3,500 tons."

"Of course I can understand you don't go to sea to coal ship, but in an emergency you think you could have coaled the Texas on that day?"

"I believe we could have taken coal on the Texas, yes."

Relating the particulars of the return to Santiago, after starting for Key West, the witness said that coal had been taken on the night of the 27th. When Captain Philip had been asked if the Texas could coal he had replied, "We can try." The trial had been made and the effort had proved successful, the witness said.

Captain Harber also told of seeing the Colon inside the harbor at Santiago on the morning of May 29, and said it had remained there until June 1. The American fleet, he said, lay seven or eight miles from the mouth of the harbor at night and further than that in the daytime.

Asked concerning his knowledge of the Brooklyn's loop during the battle of Santiago, the witness said he did not see the loop made. He said, in reply to questions, that the blockade was maintained by the vessels steaming in column back and forth in front of the mouth of the harbor at a distance of from seven to ten miles out, the greater distance being that maintained at night.

At this distance there was no difficulty in seeing the shore during the daytime and on clear nights, but when the weather was bad it was difficult to see the shore in the daytime, and sometimes under those circumstances impossible to see it at night.

Recurring to the Brooklyn, he said he had seen that vessel immediately after it had executed the loop, when it was on the port bow of the Texas, about 800 feet distant.

IF TEXAS BACKED

HE DIDN'T KNOW IT.

The Texas was not then moving at her full speed, because the Oregon was passing her. If the Texas at that time backed or stopped he was not aware of the circumstance.

Captain Harber was asked concerning the position of the Brooklyn relative to the Texas and to the other ships when he first saw her after the turn.

"The Brooklyn," he replied, "was on the port bow of the Texas, standing at an angle I should say approximating one-half point to the southward of the heading of the Texas. At that time the Oregon was just forging past us on the starboard side, in shore. The Iowa was still farther in shore, and pointing up, so that her bow overlapped our bow. At one time I know that we fired across the stern of the Iowa."

"Where were the Spanish vessels with reference to the heading of the Texas?"

"The head of the line was then on our starboard bow, I should say approximately four points on the bow."

The Farmers' Home Telephone company, of Hopedale, has been incorporated with a capital stock of $2,000.

The eighteenth annual convention of the Jefferson County Sunday School association will be held in the Presbyterian church at Bloomfield on Oct. 3 and 4.

The wound received by Owen Burgett, of Salineville, last May, when he cut his wrist with a knife, refuses to heal, and serious results are anticipated.

Charles Derr will give up the hotel business at Hanover on Oct. 1, but will continue the saloon trade at some other point in the village.

Rev. J. C. Kelly, formerly missionary to China, and lately pastor of the Presbyterian church at Ellsworth, has been called to the pastorate of the church at Juniata, a suburb of Altoona, Pa.

While at work in the Findley coal bank, near Island Creek, Joseph Chambers, Jr., had his right leg broken below the knee by a piece of coal rolling on him. He was alone at the time of the accident and lay there helpless until aid arrived.

She Started Early.

A martinet of a sergeant deciding to get married, some of his men decided that when the happy event came off it would be a fitting occasion to pay back with interest old scores, especially as their friends decided to keep up the time honored custom of throwing rice and old shoes at the happy couple.

On the eventful day when the happy pair emerged from their quarters they were greeted with a perfect shower of rice and old shoes, but one Tommy had slyly substituted a big pair of regulation blunders, which he threw with such unerring aim that the missile caught the sergeant just above the eye, inflicting a nasty cut.

Directly the ceremony was over the sergeant immediately went to the hospital to have the wound dressed. The doctor, after examining the swollen and discolored optic, inquired how it was done.

"Well, sir," replied the sergeant, "I got married today, and"—

But was cut short by the doctor (a married man) exclaiming:

"Oh, I see! That explains it; but, by Jove, she's started early!"—London Answers.

Queer Case of Evolution.

The general law of evolution is from the useful and practical into the ideal and beautiful. This seems to be reversed in the case of the lily and the banana. The banana is really a developed tropical lily from which the seeds have been eliminated and the fruit greatly expanded. This is very much as if an angel should evolve into a fat, comfortable stockbroker.—Exchange.

Crude Petroleum.

From crude petroleum are made kerosene, gasoline, naphtha, paraffin and vaseline. A still heavier oil, left as a residue, is used for axle grease, and the carbon is turned into sticks for electric lights. The sulphuric acid which is used for purifying the products of petroleum is recovered and turned into fertilizer for farms where there is too much phosphate rock, which is thus dissolved.

Back From the Philippines.

About all the volunteers are back from the Philippines, where they have had a long, hard experience of soldier life. Nearly all report the health of the soldiers good, except for frequent attacks of dysentery and diarrhoea. The 51st Iowa regiment on leaving San Francisco took a case of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with them, and many soldiers carried single bottles. This was soon used up and found so effective that a constant demand for it resulted in a large shipment being made from the factory at Des Moines. A teaspoonful of it in a little water always has the desired effect. Sold by Alvin H. Bulger, Druggist.

Judge Wilson, of counsel for Admiral Schley, said no objection would be made, but that counsel for the applicant did not desire the unobjected acceptance of the report to operate as a precedent.

Captain Lemly announced that he had no further questions to ask of Admiral Higginson, and the attorneys for Admiral Schley said they had no questions to put. It was then said by Captain Lemly that the court had some questions of its own to ask.

These were written, and the first was concerning the elevation of the guns during the bombardment of the Colon on May 31st. The reply was that at first they were 7,800 feet and latterly 9,000 feet. The next question was as to whether "there was any place of shelter near Santiago where the 'flying squadron' could have coaled after its arrival at Santiago. Admiral Higginson replied that Guantanamo was only 40 miles to the east.

The third question, coming as it did, from the court, created some or a sensation, which was added to by the reply. The question was: "Was every effort made by Admiral Schley to destroy or capture the Spanish steamer Colon, as she lay at anchor in the harbor at Santiago, between the 27th and 31st of May?"

THE WITNESS REFLECTED ON SCHLEY'S CONDUCT.

"Object," "Object," "Object," came from each of Admiral Schley's counsel, but before a halt could be called the witness had replied, "No, I don't think it was."

The question and the reply led to a legal controversy. The question was withdrawn by Admiral Dewey. Captain Chester related an interview he had had with Admiral Schley on board the Brooklyn off the south coast of Cuba, on May 29, 1898. He had told the admiral that from his examination of the charts he believed coaling feasible, but he thought it would be done under great disadvantages. He had expressed the opinion that boats might be used or that a more secure point might be gained under the beams, 30 miles to eastward.

Major Thomas N. Wood, of the marine corps, who commanded the main force on the Massachusetts during the Spanish war, testified to the circumstances connected with the vessel's operations during the siege of Santiago. He said that the second day after Santiago bay was reached by the "flying squadron" he had seen the Christobal Colon lying inside the harbor; that there was at that time another Spanish vessel of the Viscaya class partly visible. He thought both were in view for three or four days. The witness also said that when Admiral Schley had come aboard the Massachusetts previous to the bombardment of the Colon, on May 31, he had heard that officer say to Captain Higginson: "We are going in, but we will not go in sufficiently near to endanger the vessels." He had been told that the distance was to be 10,000 feet.

After the bombardment ceased, Major Woods said, the Spanish shore batteries continued to fire at the American ships. At this point he had gone forward, where he had again seen Commodore Schley.

"Did you hear orders or instructions given by Commodore Schley after the bombardment?" asked the judge advocate. The witness replied:

"I went upon the superstructure to ask if we were going in again or going any closer, so as to know whether we would have a chance to use the six-inch batteries, of which I was in command, and I heard, as I believe, Commodore Schley say to Captain Higginson: 'Starboard your helm and let's get out of this.'"

"How clear is your recollection? Were these his exact words?"

"As I remember, these were the exact words, and at the time I considered them as having been made by Commodore Schley. There were quite a number of people up there on the forward part of the deck at that time, and from the recognition of the voice and the general direction from which it came, I took it to be a remark made by the flag officer. I suppose I was probably eight feet away from the speaker when I heard this remark made."

DECLARED HE HEARD IT DISTINCTLY.

"Did you hear it distinctly?"

"I heard it fairly distinctly. There was a bit of confusion going on at the time caused by persons walking around."

Captain Giles P. Harber, now naval attaché at Paris and St. Petersburg, who was executive officer on board the Texas during the Spanish war, was asked in the absence of Captain Philip to give a detailed account of the operations of that vessel during the war, and he did so. His testimony was in part:

"The Texas had been a part of the 'flying squadron,' and the witness said that when they steamed for Cienfuegos the flagship had signalled: 'We go to Cienfuegos to bag the Spaniards; wish you good luck.'"

In reply to questions he said that when Cienfuegos was reached earth works were discovered there, but no effort was made to destroy them.

"Now, Captain," the judge advocate said, "I want to ask you, as executive officer of the Texas, in case of the sudden death or disability of Captain Philip, who would have taken command of that vessel?"

"I would naturally have," was the reply.

"What instructions did you have, written or verbal, respecting the order of battle which the 'flying squadron' was to follow in case the enemy should suddenly appear?"

"The matter was never broached

The commanding officer never gave me any, nor did I know that he had any.

"You had no knowledge, then, of the existence of any order of battle or written or verbal instructions covering such a contingency?"

"No, sir."

MARBLEHEAD RESPONDED TO SIGNALS.

The witness said that while lying off Cienfuegos he, with others, had seen lights from the shore which, from their nature, they took to be signals, but that no attention had been paid to them until the 24th, when the Marblehead had arrived, and he understood, had responded to the signals and communicated with those on shore.

He also said that the Texas had been in no great need of coal while lying off Cienfuegos, but that it could have taken more, and would have been glad to get it. The Iowa had coaled there, he said. Describing the sail to Santiago the witness said there had been rough weather, but that the Texas could have made better time than it did. He said that when the squadron arrived in sight of the Yale and other American vessels off Santiago, on the evening of May 26, all the vessels cleared for action, thinking to find the Spanish fleet.

When they were vessels of the enemy. When they discovered their mistake Captain Philip had signalled Captain Wise, of the Yale, saying:

"Mr. Hanna, who conducted the examination of this witness, asked him particularly concerning the trip from Santiago toward Key West when the squadron started for the latter place in order to coal."

He said that no effort had been made on the 26th, the day of the arrival off Santiago, to coal ship.

The questions and replies on this point were as follows:

"Have you had any experience in coaling vessels in the waters of the West Indies or in that part of the world?"

"I had some experience shortly before, while lying at Tortugas."

"If, as executive officer of the Texas, you had received instructions at that time on the 26th to coal ship what would you have done?"

"I would have coaled ship probably."

"Was there anything in the conditions of weather or the sea then prevailing to have prevented the Texas from taking coal on the 26th?"

HAD COALED SHIP IN AS HEAVY SEA.

"On the evening of the 26th I do not think the sea was any heavier than existed when I successfully coaled ship at Tortugas, although the coaler was a heavier vessel. I coaled ship in Tortugas with a considerable sea, the coaler having only about 3,500 tons."

"Of course I can understand you don't go to sea to coal ship, but in an emergency you think you could have coaled the Texas on that day?"

"I believe we could have taken coal on the Texas, yes."

Relating the particulars of the return to Santiago, after starting for Key West, the witness said that coal had been taken on the night of the 27th. When Captain Philip had been asked in the Texas could coal be had replied, "We can try." The trial had been made and the effort had proved successful, the witness said.

Captain Harber also told of seeing the Colon inside the harbor at Santiago on the morning of May 29, and said it had remained there until June 1. The American fleet, he said, lay seven or eight miles from the mouth of the harbor at night and further than that in the daytime.

Asked concerning his knowledge of the Brooklyn's loop during the battle off Santiago, the witness said he did not see the loop made. He said, in reply to questions, that the blockade was maintained by the vessels steaming in column back and forth in front of the mouth of the harbor at a distance of from seven to ten miles out, the greater distance being that maintained at night.

At this distance there was no difficulty in seeing the shore during the daytime and on clear nights, but when the weather was bad it was difficult to see the shore in the daytime, and sometimes under those circumstances impossible to see it at night.

Recurring to the Brooklyn, he said he had seen that vessel immediately after it had executed the loop, when it was on the port bow of the Texas, about 800 feet distant.

IF TEXAS BACKED HE DIDN'T KNOW IT.

The Texas was not then moving at her full speed, because the Oregon was passing her. If the Texas at that time backed or stopped he was not aware of the circumstance.

Captain Harber was asked concerning the position of the Brooklyn relative to the Texas and to the other ships when he first saw her after the turn.

"The Brooklyn," he replied, "was on the port bow of the Texas, standing at an angle I should say approximating one-half point to the southward of the hearing of the Texas. At that time the Oregon was just forging past us on the starboard side, in shore. The Iowa was still farther in shore, and putting up, so that her bow overlapped our bow. At one time I know that we fired across the stern of the Iowa."

"Where were the Spanish vessels with reference to the heading of the Texas?"

"The head of the line was then on our starboard bow, I should say approximately four points on the bow."

COUNTY AND NEIGHBORHOODS

The Columbiana street fair opens today.

Dr. D. B. Purinton has been installed as president of the West Virginia university.

The Christian church, of New Somerset, has been incorporated under the laws of Ohio.

On Sept. 25 Miss Sarah Townsend of Salem, will wed Samuel S. Miller, of Lexington, Ky.

Dr. Connell has disposed of his practice at North Georgetown, and will remove to Syracuse, Ind.

Jefferson county W. C. T. U. will meet in convention at the Presbyterian church, Mt. Pleasant, Sept. 27.

Samuel Feight, of Washingtonville, died from typhoid fever at the Mahoning Valley hospital, Youngstown.

The Farmers' Home Telephone company, of Hopedale, has been incorporated with a capital stock of $2,000.

The eighteenth annual convention of the Jefferson County Sunday School association will be held in the Presbyterian church at Bloomfield on Oct. 3 and 4.

The wound received by Owen Burgett, of Salineville, last May, when he cut his wrist with a knife, refuses to heal, and serious results are anticipated.

Charles Derr will give up the hotel business at Hanoverton Oct. 1, but will continue the saloon trade at some other point in the village.

Rev. J. C. Kelly, formerly missionary to China, and lately pastor of the Presbyterian church at Ellsworth, has been called to the pastorate of the church at Juniata, a suburb of Altoona, Pa.

While at work in the Findley coal bank, near Island Creek, Joseph Chambers, Jr., had his right leg broken below the knee by a piece of coal rolling on him. He was alone at the time of the accident and lay there helpless until aid arrived.

She Started Early.

A martinet of a sergeant deciding to get married, some of his men decided that when the happy event came off it would be a fitting occasion to pay back with interest old scores, especially as their friends decided to keep up the time honored custom of throwing rice and old shoes at the happy couple.

On the eventful day when the happy pair emerged from their quarters they were greeted with a perfect shower of rice and old shoes, but one Tommy had dilly substituted a big pair of regulation Bluchers, which he threw with such unerring aim that the missile caught the sergeant just above the eye, inflicting a nasty cut.

Directly the ceremony was over the sergeant immediately went to the hospital to have the wound dressed. The doctor, after examining the swollen and discolored optic, inquired how it was done.

"Well, sir," replied the sergeant, "I got married today, and"—

But was cut short by the doctor (a married man) exclaiming: "Oh, I see! That explains it; but, by Jove, she's started early!"—London Answers.

Queer Case of Evolution.

The general law of evolution is from the useful and practical into the ideal and beautiful. This seems to be reversed in the case of the lily and the banana. The banana is really a developed tropical lily from which the seeds have been eliminated and the fruit greatly expanded. This is very much as if an angel should evolve into a fat, comfortable stockbroker.—Exchange.

Crude Petroleum.

From crude petroleum are made kerosene, gasoline, naphtha, paraffin and vaseline. A still heavier oil, left as a residue, is used for axle grease, and the carbon is turned into sticks for electric lights. The sulphuric acid which is used for purifying the products of petroleum is recovered and turned into fertilizer for farms where there is too much phosphate rock, which is thus dissolved.

Back From the Philippines.

About all the volunteers are back from the Philippines, where they have had a long, hard experience of soldier life. Nearly all report the health of the soldiers good, except for frequent attacks of dysentery and diarrhoea. The 51st Iowa regiment on leaving San Francisco took a case of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy with them, and many soldiers carried single bottles. This was soon used up and found so effective that a constant demand for it resulted in a large shipment being made from the factory at Des Moines. A teaspoonful of it in a little water always has the desired effect. Sold by Alvin H. Bulger, Druggist.

The absence of signs giving the names of the streets continues to puzzle the stranger in East Liverpool. It is certainly time that council gave the matter attention. If the street corners were properly marked with signs and all houses properly numbered, it would be a great convenience to the business men of the city, as well as to visiting strangers. The retail merchants will all bear testimony to the annoyance experienced when they receive an order from a customer and send out the goods, perhaps with a new delivery man, only to learn on his return that he has hunted high and low for the customer's place of abode and been unable to find it. More time and expense are required to hunt up the purchaser of the goods, who, meantime is waiting impatiently, and denouncing the mercantile establishment for its slowness. Our city has grown so fast that some of our people do not appear to recognize how completely it has outgrown the village stage and that the adoption of the established ways of other cities has become an imperative necessity. A sign at a street corner is as much needed as a street light to guide the traveler on his way. The cost of supplying the whole city with such signs would be so small that it would be almost inappreciable. Every one except the city council wants to see the work we have suggested done, and it is to be hoped that the councilmen themselves will be made to see the propriety of meeting the public wish and making it plain to strangers that East Liverpool is an up-to-date city.

The president of the United States, whatever his politics, is the people's president, and to be treated with the respect due to his high office. This is a fact which violent partisans are too liable to overlook. Concluding an editorial on "How to Honor McKinley's Memory," the New York Sun offers this timely and wholesome advice and warning: "The best mark of respect and affection which can now be given to William McKinley is to make the administration of Theodore Roosevelt the successful continuation of the dead president's work. Honest criticism and opposition on the part of those who are conscientiously opposed to Republican policies are not only welcome but essential. For the honor of the American name and in testimony of the public horror of William McKinley's violent end, let intemperate denunciation, calumny of the United States and of the president, the falsehoods and the passionate rhetoric of misrepresentation that inflame and mislead the ignorant and the persecuted be heard no more."

Senator Wellington, of Maryland, after more than a week of silence, during which time he has been constantly under censure, has explained his utterance concerning the shooting of President McKinley. He says the statement that made him say he was "indifferent to the whole matter" was misconstrued. Reporters persisted in interviewing him, one remarking that the public expected a statement from him. To this he replied that he was indifferent as to what the people expected. The senator also says he abhors the crime of anarchy and the wretch who killed President McKinley as much as any man and will do his utmost to help pass laws that will bar out the undesirable element. This explanation is a reasonable one, and will be credited by all save those who are ready to believe the worst of every man. Had the senator not made it, his senate seat would have decidedly insecure.

"The president says he wants to do only what is right," remarked a senatorial friend who had talked with him regarding policies and public business. This is not a lengthy declaration of principles, but it is a comprehensive and satisfactory one. We believe the new head of the government will do what is right, for he is an honorable man and a patriot. He has the courage to do his duty, however difficult or trying the task may be. Moreover, he has an opportunity which never before fell to any American at his time of life to win lasting honors. Duty, inclination, patriotism and ambition all call him to the same course, and he will win and retain the public confidence while proving himself a statesman.

The street railway companies are still making a pretense that they don't know summer has departed. People who ride on open cars on these chilly mornings become painfully aware of the fact.

There was no vacant chair at the cabinet meeting on Friday, but a loved face was missed and gloom and solemnity characterized the gathering.

AT THE THEATER

At midnight an extra force of stage hands began work on the production of "The Evil Eye," which will have its first presentation at the Grand tonight. Their work will not be over until the curtain rises this evening, the production which will be given to-night being one of the most complicated ever seen in this city. The massive scenic effects presented in the production of "The Evil Eye" are built on a scale which has never been equaled in this or in any other country. When it is known that one section of the stage effects, the wings of which alone are each 22 feet long, weighs almost a ton and that the remainder of the stage furniture is built on the same massive lines, the magnitude of the work to be undertaken in placing it all in position can be understood.

The Wolford Sheridan Stock company will open a week's engagement at the New Grand opera house next Monday evening, Sept. 23. This company comes well recommended, both by press and public. Their repertoire consists of all the latest successes, such as "The Curse of Gold," "The Way of the Transgressor," "Rough Rider's Romance," "A Wife's Devotion," "The Danites," "Son of Napoleon, or a Story of Laiglon," "Under Two Flags," carrying all of their own scenery and electrical and talcum effects.

FRIENDS AND VISITORS

Miss Etta Starkey, of Salineville, is visiting her brother Robert in this city. George L. Smith has returned from a western trip in the interests of the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles company. J. D. West left yesterday afternoon for Chicago, where he will join Mr. and Mrs. Homer Laughlin, and leave tonight for Los Angeles, Cal. Dr. and Mrs. Kerr, of Sistersville, W. Va., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCann, Sixth street. Mrs. Kerr and Mrs. McCann are sisters. Miss Nettie Roe returned to Omaha, Neb., yesterday afternoon after a visit with her brother, Ed Roe, Fourth street. Miss Roe is a nurse in the county hospital at Omaha.

JOHANN MOST ARRAIGNED.

Called Down For Reflecting on the Usefulness of Attorneys.
New York, Sept. 21.—John Most, the anarchist editor of the "Reds" organ, Die Freiheit, was arraigned in the court of general sessions on the charge of circulating inflammatory literature. Most acted as his own attorney. He said: "I will act for myself. Lawyers only take your money and do no good. I plead not guilty." "We don't want any more of your spectacular nonsense," said the court roughly, and then the time for trial was set for next Tuesday. Most was instructed to secure counsel. The prisoner was about to demur, but was hustled out of court.

McMurray Again Respited.

Harrisburg, Sept. 21.—Governor William A. Stone has granted a reprieve until Oct. 8, to George McMurray, the murderer of James Rudge, a pit boss of Oakdale. McMurray was to have been hanged next Thursday. This is the third postponement of the execution by the state executive. The reprieve was granted so as to allow the attorneys of McMurray to again appear before the pardon board, next Tuesday, in an effort to save the man's life.

Boers Captured Two Guns.

London, Sept. 21.—Lord Kitchener reported that the Boers have captured a company of mounted infantry and two guns at Viakfontein. One officer was killed. The Boers, in superior force, surrounded the British. Lord Kitchener has sent columns of troops in pursuit of the Boers.

Union Party Convention.

Philadelphia, Sept. 21.—The Union party convention, originally fixed for Sept. 14, and later postponed on account of the assassination of President McKinley, will be held at the Academy of Music in this city at noon next Tuesday.

Monday next being a holiday, our store will be closed until 6 p. m. 83-h ERLANGERS.

General Lee's Answer.

After the surrender of Appomattox, General-Wise came riding down the road furiously to where General Lee and his staff were grouped. He was splashed with mud from head to heels, and there were great splashes of mud dried and caked upon his face. Addressing General Lee, he asked in a theatrical voice, "Is it true, General Lee, that you have surrendered?" "Yes, General Wise, it is true." "I wish, then, to ask you one question, What is going to become of my brigade, General Lee, and what is going to become of me?" General Lee looked at the splashed warrior for a full minute and then said calmly and in a low tone, "General Wise, go and wash your face."

Domestic Difference.

Mrs. Enpeck—James, you are good on language. What is the difference between exported and transported?
Mr. Enpeck—Why, my dear, if you should go to England, you would be exported, and I—well, I would be transported.—Sunny South.

PARTRIDGE EGGS.

Said to Be More Nutritious Than the Birds Themselves.

"Few persons are aware of the fact," said a well known physician, "but it is true, nevertheless, that the egg of the partridge is one of the most nutritious things in the world. They are not used for eating purposes except in very rare cases, and then it generally happens in remote rural districts. I have known negro families in the state of Louisiana during the laying season to live on the eggs of partridges. And they would flourish handsomely and grow fat on account of the rich properties of the eggs."

"These eggs, of course, never find their way into the market because they are never taken from their nest except by such persons as I have mentioned, and they rob the nests, I suppose, because their principal food supply comes from this source. Quail meat comes pretty high in the market at all times, and the average man will find it more profitable to spare the eggs and wait for the birds when the hunting season rolls around. These men would pass 100 nests in one day without disturbing an egg. The sport of hunting the birds is an additional incentive."

"The average negro does not care so much about this aspect of the case. He figures that the white man, having the best gun and the best dog, will beat him to the bird. So he goes after the egg. One partridge will lay anywhere from 12 to 20 eggs, and a nest is a good find. I know of many families in rural sections who feast on these eggs in the laying season. I have tried the egg myself as an experiment. I found it peculiarly rich. It has a good flavor, is very palatable and in fact is altogether a very fine thing to eat. Really I believe that the egg has more nutrition in it than the fully developed bird, but of course, as one of the men fond of the game in the field, I would like to discourage the robbery of the nests."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

HUSTLING FOR BUSINESS.

More or Less of It Done in New York Lawyers' Offices.

"Get a move on! That's the great modern motto," said a New York lawyer who has been practicing in the local courts for the last 25 years.

"When I was admitted to the bar," he went on, "there was a great idea of the dignity of the profession. A lawyer would about as soon have paraded Broadway carrying a sandwich sign calling attention to his legal ability as he would have thought of hustling in any other way for business. The thing to do was to rent an office and sit in it until somebody came and dug you out of the dust and spider webs and asked you to take a case."

"The march of progress has changed all that. Every law firm in this city hustles for business. I don't mean that the big men of the firm chase around after clients. Of course they don't. But the firm does a lot of shrewd planning ahead. It schemes in a particular fashion of its own to widen its sphere of usefulness—to itself."

"Of late years one of the expedients adopted has been the taking into the firm of young college graduates who can give a reasonable guarantee that they will bring business. College men know of this custom, and many of them shape their life at the university accordingly. They are after friends. They want to be popular. They want to be able to 'swing' as much of the future legal business of their fellow graduates as they can."

"A chap who can bring business of that sort is taken in on a good salary even when he is the veriest tyro at law. He's expected, of course, to do what real work he can and to study hard. But the salary is for the pull he can exert over his fellows."—New York Sun.

In the London "Zoo" a large African elephant restores to his would be entertainers all the biscuits, whole or broken, which strike the bars and fall alike out of his reach and theirs in the space between the barrier and his cage. He points his trunk straight at the biscuits and blows them hard along the floor to the feet of the persons who have thrown them. He clearly knows what he is doing, because if the biscuit does not travel well he gives it a harder blow.

The absence of signs giving the names of the streets continues to puzzle the stranger in East Liverpool. It is certainly time that council gave the matter attention. If the street corners were properly marked with signs and all houses properly numbered, it would be a great convenience to the business men of the city, as well as to visiting strangers. The retail merchants will all bear testimony to the annoyance experienced when they receive an order from a customer and send out the goods, perhaps with a new delivery man, only to learn on his return that he has hunted high and low for the customer's place of abode and been unable to find it. More time and expense are required to hunt up the purchaser of the goods, who, meantime is waiting impatiently, and denouncing the mercantile establishment for its slowness. Our city has grown so fast that some of our people do not appear to recognize how completely it has outgrown the village stage and that the adoption of the established ways of other cities has become an imperative necessity. A sign at a street corner is as much needed as a street light to guide the traveler on his way. The cost of supplying the whole city with such signs would be so small that it would be almost inappreciable. Every one except the city council wants to see the work we have suggested done, and it is to be hoped that the councilmen themselves will be made to see the propriety of meeting the public wish and making it plain to strangers that East Liverpool is an up-to-date city.

The president of the United States, whatever his politics, is the people's president, and to be treated with the respect due to his high office. This is a fact which violent partisans are too liable to overlook. Concluding an editorial on "How to Honor McKinley's Memory," the New York Sun offers this timely and wholesome advice and warning: "The best mark of respect and affection which can now be given to William McKinley is to make the administration of Theodore Roosevelt the successful continuation of the dead president's work. Honest criticism and opposition on the part of those who are conscientiously opposed to Republican policies are not only welcome but essential. For the honor of the American name and in testimony of the public horror of William McKinley's violent end, let intemperate denunciation, calumny of the United States and of the president, the falsehoods and the passionate rhetoric of misrepresentation that inflame and mislead the ignorant and the persecuted be heard no more."

Senator Wellington, of Maryland, after more than a week of silence, during which time he has been constantly under censure, has explained his utterance concerning the shooting of President McKinley. He says the statement that made him say he was "indifferent to the whole matter" was misconstrued. Reporters persisted in interviewing him, one remarking that the public expected a statement from him. To this he replied that he was indifferent as to what the people expected. The senator also says he abhors the crime of anarchy and the wretch who killed President McKinley as much as any man and will do his utmost to help pass laws that will bar out the undesirable element. This explanation is a reasonable one, and will be credited by all save those who are ready to believe the worst of every man. Had the senator not made it, his senate seat would have decidedly insecure.

"The president says he wants to do only what is right," remarked a senatorial friend who had talked with him regarding policies and public business. This is not a lengthy declaration of principles, but it is a comprehensive and satisfactory one. We believe the new head of the government will do what is right, for he is an honorable man and a patriot. He has the courage to do his duty, however difficult or trying the task may be. Moreover, he has an opportunity which never before fell to any American at his time of life to win lasting honors. Duty, inclination, patriotism and ambition all call him to the same course, and he will win and retain the public confidence while proving himself a statesman.

The street railway companies are still making a pretense that they don't know summer has departed. People who ride on open cars on these chilly mornings become painfully aware of the fact.

There was no vacant chair at the cabinet meeting on Friday, but a loved face was missed and gloom and solemnity characterized the gathering.

AT THE THEATER

At midnight an extra force of stage hands began work on the production of "The Evil Eye," which will have its first presentation at the Grand tonight. Their work will not be over until the curtain rises this evening. The production which will be given tonight being one of the most complicated ever seen in this city. The massive scenic effects presented in the production of "The Evil Eye" are built on a scale which has never been equaled in this or in any other country. When it is known that one section of the stage effects, the wings of which alone are each 22 feet long, weighs almost a ton and that the remainder of the stage furniture is built on the same massive lines, the magnitude of the work to be undertaken in placing it all in position can be understood.

The Wolford Sheridan Stock company will open a week's engagement at the New Grand opera house next Monday evening, Sept. 23. This company comes well recommended, both by press and public. Their repertoire consists of all the latest successes, such as "The Curse of Gold," "The Way of the Transgressor," "Rough Rider's Romance," "A Wife's Devotion," "The Danites," "Son of Napoleon, or a Story of Laiglon," "Under Two Flags," carrying all of their own scenery and electrical and talmium effects.

Respite For Perry and Ivory.

Harrisburg, Sept. 21.—Governor Stone respite Charles Perry and Henry Ivory, of Philadelphia, until Oct. 8, to allow their attorneys to renew their application to the board of pardons for a commutation of sentence to life imprisonment. Perry and Ivory were to have been hanged next Thursday for the murder of Prof. White, of the University of Pennsylvania.

FRIENDS AND VISITORS

Miss Etta Starkey, of Salineville, is visiting her brother Robert in this city. George L. Smith has returned from a western trip in the interests of the Knowles, Taylor & Knowles company. J. D. West left yesterday afternoon for Chicago, where he will join Mr. and Mrs. Homer Laughlin, and leave tonight for Los Angeles, Cal.

Dr. and Mrs. Kerr, of Sistersville, W. Va., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCann, Sixth street. Mrs. Kerr and Mrs. McCann are sisters.

Miss Nettie Roe returned to Omaha, Neb., yesterday afternoon after a visit with her brother, Ed Roe, Fourth street. Miss Roe is a nurse in the county hospital at Omaha.

JOHANN MOST ARRAIGNED.

Called Down For Reflecting on the Usefulness of Attorneys.

New York, Sept. 21.—John Most, the anarchist editor of the "Reds" organ, Die Freiheit, was arraigned in the court of general sessions on the charge of circulating inflammatory literature. Most acted as his own attorney. He said: "I will act for myself. Lawyers only take your money and do no good. I plead not guilty."

"We don't want any more of your spectacular nonsense," said the court roughly, and then the time for trial was set for next Tuesday. Most was instructed to secure counsel. The prisoner was about to demur, but was hustled out of court.

McMurray Again Respite.

Harrisburg, Sept. 21.—Governor William A. Stone has granted a reprieve until Oct. 8, to George McMurray, the murderer of James Rudge, a pit boss of Oakdale. McMurray was to have been hanged next Thursday. This is the third postponement of the execution by the state executive. The reprieve was granted so as to allow the attorneys of McMurray to again appear before the pardon board, next Tuesday, in an effort to save the man's life.

Boers Captured Two Guns.

London, Sept. 21.—Lord Kitchener reported that the Boers have captured a company of mounted infantry and two guns at Vlakfontein. One officer was killed. The Boers, in superior force, surrounded the British. Lord Kitchener has sent columns of troops in pursuit of the Boers.

Union Party Convention.

Philadelphia, Sept. 21.—The Union party convention, originally fixed for Sept. 14, and later postponed on account of the assassination of President McKinley, will be held at the Academy of Music in this city at noon next Tuesday.

Monday next being a holiday, our store will be closed until 6 p. m. 83-h

ERLANGERS.

General Lee's Answer.

After the surrender of Appomattox, General Wise came riding down the road furiously to where General Lee and his staff were grouped. He was splashed with mud from head to heels, and there were great splashes of mud dried and caked upon his face. Addressing General Lee, he asked in a theatrical voice, "Is it true, General Lee, that you have surrendered?" "Yes, General Wise, it is true."

"I wish, then, to ask you one question. What is going to become of my brigade, General Lee, and what is going to become of me?"

General Lee looked at the splashed warrior for a full minute and then said calmly and in a low tone, "General Wise, go and wash your face."

A Youthful Promoter.

A horseman had an amusing experience near the speedway a few days ago. He called to an idle newsboy to hold his horse while he made a call on a client. On leaving the house he was surprised to see another boy in charge of the horse. So he asked:

"How's this? You are not the boy I left my horse with."

"No, sir. I just spekkilled and bought him of the other boy for 10 cents. He said as how you were only worth a nickel, and I says you were good for a quarter. See?"

The boy got the quarter and went around the corner, where the first boy was waiting under an open window in the home of the horseman's friend.

"That's the way ter work the swells," said the young speculator to his companion. "Ef you had staid, he wouder coughed up a dime. The bluff made him ershamed to hand over less than the two bits. You gets 12 cents, and I keep the extra cent for permin dis scheme. See?"—New York Times.

How to Treat a Cook.

"Into no department in life," says Yuan Mei, a Chinese authority on cooking, "should indifference be allowed to creep; into none less than into the domain of cookery. Cooks are but mean fellows, and if a day is passed without either rewarding or punishing them that day is surely marked by negligence or carelessness on their part. If badly cooked food is swallowed in silence, such neglect will speedily become a habit. Still, mere rewards and punishments are of no use. If a dish is good, attention should be called to the why and the wherefore. If bad, an effort should be made to discover the cause of the failure."

A Retiary.

A retiary was the name of a Roman gladiator armed in a peculiar way. He was furnished with a trident and net, with no more covering than a short tunic, and with these implements he endeavored to entangle and dispatch his adversary, who was called a secutor (from sequi, to follow) and was armed with a helmet, a shield and a sword. The name of the first is pronounced as if spelled re-shi-a-ry, the accent on the first syllable.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

It was a first-class exhibition.

Godwin was unable to play yesterday and Rising took his place at short.

McNicol played well at second, but had hard luck at the bat.

McShane was at his best. There were no flies on him at any time.

Webb did good work in right. Barker had but one chance and Reark was not even that fortunate.

Rising put up a magnificent game at short and his work at the bat was in keeping with his former good playing.

Davis is credited with two errors. He had a little hard luck, but neither of his errors were costly. His work at the bat, however, more than compensated for other deficiencies.

Heckathorne played his first game with the locals as Wallace's successor. He not only did nice work in the field, but he handled the willow like an old professor.

Emmerling's work behind the bat was one of the features of the game. He is certainly onto his job. In the fifth inning with two of the opposing players out and a man on third and another on first Emmerling threw to Webb as the man at first tried to steal, catching him with ease. The play surprised the Cantonians, but the locals don't practice it as much as they ought to.

Hodge, the Single Minded.

An election petition was being tried, and a witness was called to prove "bribery."

"One of the gentlemen says to me, 'Hodge, you must vote for the Tories,'" said the witness.

"And what did you answer to that?" asked the counsel.

"Well, says I, 'How much?'"

"And what did the agent say?"

"He didn't say nothing. The other gentleman comes to me and says, 'You must vote for the Liberals, Hodge.'"

"And what did you answer?"

"I said, 'How much?' So he arst me what 't'other gentleman offered me, and I told him 5 shillings."

"And what did the Liberal agent do?"

"He gave me 10 shillings."

Counsel sits down triumphant, and up starts the other side.

"Did you vote for the Liberals?"

"No."

"Did you vote for the Tories?"

"No. I ain't got a vote!"—Spare Moments.

Restoring the Polish.

Says a housekeeper: "My piano, which had been covered with a cambric cover, was loaded with dust that had sifted through the sleazy cloth. The dust was too thick to be wiped off. It should have been blown and lightly whisked off first, but this my maid did not do, and in consequence the grime was wiped in for all I know with a damp cloth. At all events the highly polished surface was clouded over almost to a gray, and I was in despair until a friend suggested a remedy. She advised me to wring as dry as I could a piece of chamols from out a basin of water and rub the piano until the chamols was bone dry. This I have done and completely restored the polish."

How Pepper is Prepared.

The pepper plant is propagated by cuttings, comes into bearing three or four years after it is set and yields two crops annually for about 12 years. When a few of the berries change from green to red, all of them are gathered, because if they were allowed to ripen any longer they would be less pungent. To fit them for market they are dried, separated by rubbing with the hands and cleaned by winnowing. The black pepper of commerce consists of the berries thus prepared.

Why Uncle Sam Needs More Merchant Ships

By JOHN K. GOWDY, United States Consul General at Paris

THE question of the possibility of American coal competing with that of European production is of great importance, especially to those European countries which consume more coal than they can produce at home.

It has been said that the most favorable analysis of American steam generating coal has not been fairly presented in France.

IN VIEW OF THIS AMERICAN EXPORTERS OF COAL SHOULD LOSE NO TIME IN SENDING COMPETENT REPRESENTATIVES PREPARED TO MAKE PRACTICAL DEMONSTRATIONS OF THE ADVANTAGES CLAIMED.

The duty on American coal coming direct from the United States to a port in France is insignificant. The main difficulty is the transportation. The railway rates would naturally be the same for all shippers, but the American export is hampered by the lack of a merchant marine.

This should be remedied not only by building United States merchant ships, but by subsidizing those in existence. Freight rates could then be governed by American owners and not be subject to the dictates of foreign shippers.

ROBBED HER FRIEND

Southside Woman Came Near Getting Into Serious Trouble While Visiting.

A woman who resides a short distance from Chester came near getting herself into trouble a few days ago. She went to East Liverpool to call on a lady friend and when her friend was called across the street to answer a telephone call she discovered a $10 bill lying on the mantle, which she took. Upon missing the money her friend did not suspect her visitor until a neighbor said she had seen the woman walking about the house as though searching for something.

Coming to Chester she went to the grocery of O. O. Allison. Knowing that the woman purchased her groceries at that store she inquired if she had passed the bill there, and finding she had, consulted the "squire" for the purpose of bringing action. In some manner the woman's husband heard of the suit to be entered against his wife and going to East Liverpool returned the $10.

LINCOLN'S LOGIC.

How Old Abe Learned to Tell When a Thing is Proved.

A man who heard Abraham Lincoln speak in Norwich, Conn., some time before he was nominated for president, was greatly impressed by the closely knit logic of the speech. Meeting him next day on a train he asked him how he acquired his wonderful logical powers and such acuteness in analysis.

Lincoln replied: "It was my terrible discouragement which did that for me. When I was a young man, I went into an office to study law. I saw that a lawyer's business is largely to prove things. I said to myself, 'Lincoln, when is a thing proved?' That was a poser. What constitutes proof? Not evidence; that was not the point. There may be evidence enough, but wherein consists the proof? I groined over the question, and finally said to myself, 'Ah, Lincoln, you can't tell.' Then I thought what use is it for me to be in a law office if I can't tell when a thing is proved?"

"So I gave it up and went back home. Soch after I returned to the old log cabin I fell in with a copy of Euclid. I had not the slightest notion of what Euclid was, and I thought I would find out. I therefore began at the beginning, and before spring I had gone through the old Euclid's geometry and could demonstrate every proposition in the book. Then in the spring, when I had got through with it, I said to myself one day, 'Ah, do you know when a thing is proved?' and I answered, 'Yes, sir, I do. Then you may go back to the law shop,' and I went."—Exchange.

What to Read.

Read the good old books that have lived and held their own by the vitality of matter and style that makes them standards. Don't read a lot of new books about the Bible. Read the Bible, and then you will understand what you may afterward read about the Bible. Read Shakespeare, not controversies on Shakespeare; read Scott and Thackeray and Dickens and George Eliot. Do not be content with a short history of literature that tells you their best works and makes a few disconnected extracts and tells you their standing and what you should think of them.

Read intelligently and with interest, and every book you read will guide you to the next that is good for you personally far better than a strange mentor can do, who is often full of theories and prejudices or perhaps has got up a course of study as a "pot boiler" and has no real love of his subject.

A Youthful Promoter.

A horseman had an amusing experience near the speedway a few days ago. He called to an idle newsboy to hold his horse while he made a call on a client. On leaving the house he was surprised to see another boy in charge of the horse. So he asked:

"How's this? You are not the boy I left my horse with."

"No, sir. I just spekked and bought him of the other boy for 10 cents. He said as how you were only worth a nickel, and I says you were good for a quarter. See?"

The boy got the quarter and went around the corner, where the first boy was waiting under an open window in the home of the horseman's friend.

"That's the way ter work the swells," said the young speculator to his companion. "Ef you had staid, he wouder coughed up a dime. The bluff made him ershamed to hand over less than the two bits. You gets 12 cents, and I keep the extra cent for permutin dis scheme. See?"—New York Times.

I said to myself, 'Lincoln, when is a thing proved? That was a poser. What constitutes proof? Not evidence; that was not the point. There may be evidence enough, but wherein consists the proof? I groaned over the question, and finally said to myself, 'Ah, Lincoln, you can't tell.' Then I thought what use is it for me to be in a law office if I can't tell when a thing is proved?"

"So I gave it up and went back home. Sooth after I returned to the old log cabin I fell in with a copy of Euclid. I had not the slightest notion of what Euclid was, and I thought I would find out. I therefore began at the beginning, and before spring I had gone through the old Euclid's geometry and could demonstrate every proposition in the book. Then in the spring, when I had got through with it, I said to myself one day, 'Ah, do you know when a thing is proved?' and I answered, 'Yes, sir, I do. Then you may go back to the law shop; and I went.'—Exchange.

What to Read.

Read the good old books that have lived and held their own by the vitality of matter and style that makes them standards. Don't read a lot of new books about the Bible. Read the Bible, and then you will understand what you may afterward read about the Bible. Read Shakespeare, not controversies on Shakespeare; read Scott and Thackeray and Dickens and George Eliot. Do not be content with a short history of literature that tells you their best works and makes a few disconnected extracts and tells you their standing and what you should think of them.

Read intelligently and with interest, and every book you read will guide you to the next that is good for you personally far better than a strange mentor can do, who is often full of theories and prejudices or perhaps has got up a course of study as a "pot boiler" and has no real love of his subject.

THE MILBURN HOUSE

SCENE OF OUR THIRD MARTYRED
PRESIDENT'S LAST HOURS.

Home of the President of Pan-American Exposition, Where the Sad Ending of the Recent Tragedy Took Place.

A pathetic and historic interest will henceforth be attached to the house in Buffalo where the late President McKinley was taken after he had been stricken by the assassin's bullets, where he fought a brave but unavailing struggle with the great conqueror and where he finally passed away. This house is the home of Mr. John G. Milburn, president of the Pan-American exposition. It was to Mr. Milburn's home that Mr. McKinley and his wife went as guests on their arrival at Buffalo.

The house is encircled by lawns. It is a three story, dark green brick structure of wide dimensions, situated on the west side of Delaware avenue, near Ferry street. A well kept lawn sixty feet in width slopes down to the sidewalk. A strip of green, a hedge and then a driveway separate the house on the south. In the rear another lawn reaches to the Milburn barn, and to the north that of Mr. Milburn's nearest neighbor lies between the two houses. The Milburn house is not new and was remodeled by its owner last year.

President McKinley, his wife and the doctors and nurses attending the couple received undisturbed possession of the Milburn house immediately after the shooting. The president's suit of rooms was excellently adapted to the needs of a sickroom. It was the second floor of the new northern portion of the house. The lower floor opens off the main hall and consists of the library, reception rooms and a rear room, lately used as a bedroom. The second floor opens off a long hall leading from the main stairway.

On the second floor are three rooms extending along the north side of the old house. The house faces east. The first of the three chambers is a sitting room, and the second room is the one in which the president died. Between it and the sitting room is a bathroom. The third room was used as a resting and retiring place for the nurses. In this were kept the medicines and instruments used.

Although the president's sickroom had been fitted up with a view to entertaining distinguished visitors to the exposition and contained a brass and gold bedstead, the president did not occupy the latter. He rested on a regulation iron hospital cot brought to the Milburn house from the hospital to which he was first taken. It was reported a few days after the shooting that Mr. McKinley facetiously com-

Eczema for Forty Years.

The Unqualified Statement of a Well Known Attorney, St. Ignace, Mich.

Some of the cures made by Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment of stubborn and long continued eczema and skin diseases are causing much comment.

People are beginning to realize that this Ointment is a wonder worker with all kinds of skin trouble. Attorney Jas. J. Brown, St. Ignace, Michigan, writes as follows: Dr. A. W. Chase, Med. Co., Buffalo, N. Y.—Gents:—I cannot refrain from expressing my acknowledgments for the relief I have felt from Dr. Chase's Ointment. For 40 years I was afflicted with a skin disease which was located in one spot—on my leg. I have spent at a rough estimate five hundred dollars trying to effect a cure, and until I applied this ointment I did not get relief. You are strangers to me and this letter is prompted directly because I want to say and I feel as though I ought to say it. That Chase's Ointment has effected a complete cure of my affliction. Three boxes did the work on my leg. I was also suffering from itching piles and applied the ointment which gave the best of satisfaction by affording me rest at night and rapidly causing the disease to disappear. I have received such relief and comfort from the ointment that I cannot withhold expressing my gratitude. I was so long afflicted with the tortures of eczema. I feel now that I am cured, a word of recommendation is due from me.

Yours truly, mented on the narrowness of the bed, saying that it was no wider than a bunk on a man-of-war. He thought he deserved better treatment, he laughingly complained, as commander in chief of the navy.

Mrs. McKinley occupied a smaller suit in the new south wing on the opposite side of the house. Her rooms were splendidly appointed, for Mr. Milburn spared neither trouble nor expense to make his distinguished guests as comfortable as possible. Mrs. McKinley's rooms communicated directly with those of her husband. Mr. Milburn gave up his house entirely to the use of the president and took up his residence with a friend.

The late president's host is probably the best known man in the city of Buffalo. He is one of the leading attorneys of New York state and has enjoyed about all the honors that the Buffalo bar, its social life and its professional organizations can bestow. His election as president of Buffalo's great exposition marked the culminating point of his influence and popularity.

Mr. Milburn is a native of England and is just fifty years of age. He was educated in private schools in England and came to this country about thirty years ago. He studied law in Batavia, N. Y., and was admitted to the bar in 1874. He is counsel for the defendant in the Molineux murder case. Mr. Milburn is an athletic, rosy cheeked man of the sunniest temperament imaginable. He and Mr. McKinley took an immense liking to each other, and the late president has no more sincere mourner than he.

MENTOR OF CZOLGOSZ.

Emma Goldman, Whose Words Fired the Assassin's Brain.

Emma Goldman, who, according to Leon Czolgosz, inspired him with the desire to assassinate the president, is known from New York to San Francisco as the "Queen of the Anarchists." Another title that her writings and lectures have gained for her is that of "The Little Firebrand." The "little" refers to her size, while the "firebrand" has reference to the incendiary character of her utterances.

Although Miss Goldman is a persistent and uncompromising enemy of law and order, there is about her personality no suggestion of the virago. She is a short, "dumpy" woman, whose facial appearance, while far from beautiful or handsome, is by no means unprepossessing. She has a pale face, a determined mouth and a firm chin, brown hair brushed smoothly from a low, broad forehead and gray eyes. Her face is intelligent, and when speaking on anarchy, her favorite topic, it lights up with a strange enthusiasm. She has suffered much for her "cause," and her face bears the mark of her varied experiences.

"The Little Firebrand" is now about thirty-three years of age. She is a Russian by birth and was educated in Germany. Her parents are poor, respectable folks who reside in Rochester, N. Y. Miss Goldman came to America about seventeen years ago, having already learned many of her pernicious doctrines. She worked for a time in New York, preaching on the advantages of anarchy in her leisure moments. The boldness of her utterances attracted the notice of the police, but she was not molested until 1893. In that year Miss Goldman was arrested, charged with inciting to riot and convicted. She was sentenced to a year's imprisonment on Blackwell's island and served ten months of the term. Since then she has been lecturing and writing on her favorite topics, denouncing with vehemence the United States government and all others.

Miss Goldman denies that she inspired Czolgosz and that she is an advocate of violence. "I have never advocated violence," she says, "but neither do I condemn the anarchist who resorts to it. I look behind him for the conditions that made him possible. Perhaps under the same conditions I should have done the same. The act is noble, but it is mistaken."

Bunched His Blunders.

"John," said Mrs. Billus after the caller had gone away, "I wish you wouldn't bunch your blunders so."

"What do you mean, Maria?" asked Mr. Billus.

"I didn't mind your telling her that you were ten years older than I, but you followed it up a minute later by letting it slip out that you were 52."—Chicago Tribune.

Writing For Money.

Fond Father—Yes, my boy at the variety has written several articles for the magazines.

Friend—But he's not a professional writer, surely?

"What do you mean by 'professional'?"

"Doesn't he?" You ought to see some of his letters to me."—Exchange.

PENSION RESULTS.

Work Done by the Bureau For the Fiscal Year.

HONOR TO THE NATION'S HEROES.

Some Official Facts and Figures From the Pension Bureau—High Water Mark of Pension Payments.

The liberal yet conservative course of the administration in respect to the execution of the pension laws ought to commend it to the favorable consideration of the voters of Ohio, which has a large contingent of soldiers in all our wars. President McKinley's instructions to Commissioner of Pensions Evans was, "Be liberal within the law," and the orders of the chief magistrate have been fairly and faithfully carried out. The report of the commissioner of pensions, lately issued, shows that there are 997,735 persons on the rolls. This indicated a gain of 4,296 for the past year, after deducting losses resulting from death and otherwise. On June 30, 1901, there were on file 463,563 claims for pensions. The number of pensions issued during the past year was 109,668, or 4,000 more than were issued before during any one year.

The following memoranda, issued from the Pension office June 30, 1901, will throw much light upon the recent operations of the office:

THE COUNTRY'S LAWS.

President McKinley, when in the moment of first deadly peril he raised his hand and ordered that no harm should be done the miscreant who had shot him, spoke as the constitutional ruler and law-abiding citizen. The violent and heedless newspapers that are talking about lynch law and expressing the wish that the assassin had been instantly slaughtered, might well profit by the example of the great American who, in his own danger, did not forget his country's laws. This is a land of law. Violence and vengeance have no place here. Nothing will so suppress anarchy as the sober, calm, judicial execution of law. If this case proves existing law insufficient, needed laws can be passed; but the first high need and duty is of a fair trial and a just sentence for all the laws broken, and the full execution of whatever punishment the laws provide.

Tom Johnson's pet tax scheme didn't seem to take at all. Most people in Ohio during these prosperous times are both able and willing to pay their fair share of the public burdens, and are not much interested in the Johnson plan for the application of Henry George's wild theories in respect to taxation.

The attempt on the life of President McKinley should unite every Republican in Ohio to the support of the principles which the president represents.

WORTH A THOUGHT

This Statement Will Interest Scores of East Liverpool Readers.

The facts given below are worth a perusal by all who are anxious about their physical condition or are similarly situated to this resident of East Liverpool. It is a legal occurrence and can be investigated.

Mr. William Terrence, fireman at engine house No. 1, says: "For some time I was annoyed with symptoms of either weakened or over-excited kidneys. I had noticed more than one recommendation made by people living in East Liverpool about Doan's Kidney Pills, and thinking that if the medicine performed half what it promised it might help me, I bought a box at Larkin's drug store. The treatment cured me."

OUR PROSPERITY.

The Financial Chronicle computes that 55 roads earned (gross) for the third week in August $10,000,733, an increase of $1,022,263, or 11.39 per cent.; for the fourth week in August 42 roads report $12,480,395, an increase of $1,289,287, or 11.52 per cent. These are wonderful gains, when it is considered that they are compared with 1900, itself a year of remarkable gains right straight through. "Let well enough alone" is a good old rule, but still better is it not to kick over such improvements as these.

The late president's host is probably the best known man in the city of Buffalo. He is one of the leading attorneys of New York state and has enjoyed about all the honors that the Buffalo bar, its social life and its professional organizations can bestow. His election as president of Buffalo's great exposition marked the culminating point of his influence and popularity.

Mr. Milburn is a native of England and is just fifty years of age. He was educated in private schools in England and came to this country about thirty years ago. He studied law in Batavia, N. Y., and was admitted to the bar in 1874. He is counsel for the defendant in the Molineux murder case. Mr. Milburn is an athletic, rosy cheeked man of the sunniest temperament imaginable. He and Mr. McKinley took an immense liking to each other, and the late president has no more sincere mourner than he.

MENTOR OF CZOLGOSZ.

Emma Goldman, Whose Words Fired the Anarchist's Brain.

Emma Goldman, who, according to Leon Czolgosz, inspired him with the desire to assassinate the president, is known from New York to San Francisco as the "Queen of the Anarchists." Another title that her writings and lectures have gained for her is that of "The Little Firebrand." The "little" refers to her size, while the "firebrand" has reference to the incendiary character of her utterances.

Although Miss Goldman is a persistent and uncompromising enemy of law and order, there is about her personality no suggestion of the virago. She is a short, "dumpy" woman, whose facial appearance, while far from beautiful or handsome, is by no means unprepossessing. She has a pale face, a determined mouth and a firm chin, brown hair brushed smoothly from a low, broad forehead and gray eyes. Her face is intelligent, and when speaking on anarchy, her favorite topic, it lights up with a strange enthusiasm. She has suffered much for her "cause," and her face bears the mark of her varied experiences.

"The Little Firebrand" is now about thirty-three years of age. She is a Russian by birth and was educated in Germany. Her parents are poor, respectable folks who reside in Rochester, N. Y. Miss Goldman came to America about seventeen years ago, having already learned many of her pernicious doctrines. She worked for a time in New York, preaching on the advantages of anarchy in her leisure moments. The boldness of her utterances attracted the notice of the police, but she was not molested until 1893. In that year Miss Goldman was arrested, charged with inciting to riot and convicted. She was sentenced to a year's imprisonment on Blackwell's island and served ten months of the term. Since then she has been lecturing and writing on her favorite topics, denouncing with vehemence the United States government and all others.

Miss Goldman denies that she inspired Czolgosz and that she is an advocate of violence. "I have never advocated violence," she says, "but neither do I condemn the anarchist who resorts to it. I look behind him for the conditions that made him possible. Perhaps under the same conditions I should have done the same. The act is noble, but it is mistaken."

Bunched His Blunders.

"John," said Mrs. Billus after the caller had gone away, "I wish you wouldn't bunch your blunders so."

"What do you mean, Maria?" asked Mr. Billus.

"I didn't mind your telling her that you were ten years older than I, but you followed it up a minute later by letting it slip out that you were 52," Chicago Tribune.

Writing For Money.

Fond Father—Yes, my boy at the variety has written several articles for the magazines.

Friend—But he's not a professional writer, surely?

"What do you mean by 'professional'?"

"Why, he doesn't write for money?"

"Doesn't he?" You ought to see some of his letters to me.—Exchange.

PENSION RESULTS.

Work Done by the Bureau For the Fiscal Year.

HONOR TO THE NATION'S HEROES.

Some Official Facts and Figures From the Pension Bureau—High Water Mark of Pension Payments.

The liberal yet conservative course of the administration in respect to the execution of the pension laws ought to commend it to the favorable consideration of the voters of Ohio, which has a large contingent of soldiers in all our wars. President McKinley's instructions to Commissioner of Pensions Evans was, "Be liberal within the law," and the orders of the chief magistrate have been fairly and faithfully carried out. The report of the commissioner of pensions, lately issued, shows that there are 997,735 persons on the rolls. This indicated a gain of 4,296 for the past year, after deducting losses resulting from death and otherwise. On June 30, 1901, there were on file 403,569 claims for pensions. The number of pensions issued during the past year was 109,668, or 4,099 more than were issued before during any one year.

The following memoranda, issued from the Pension office June 30, 1901, will throw much light upon the recent operations of the office:

THE COUNTRY'S LAWS.

President McKinley, when in the moment of first deadly peril he raised his hand and ordered that no harm should be done the miscreant who had shot him, spoke as the constitutional ruler and law-abiding citizen. The violent and heedless newspapers that are talking about lynch law and expressing the wish that the assassin had been instantly slaughtered, might well profit by the example of the great American who, in his own danger, did not forget his country's laws. This is a land of law. Violence and vengeance have no place here. Nothing will so suppress anarchy as the sober, calm, judicial execution of law. If this case proves existing law insufficient, needed laws can be passed; but the first high need and duty is of a fair trial and a just sentence for all the laws broken, and the full execution of whatever punishment the laws provide.

Tom Johnson's pet tax scheme didn't seem to take at all. Most people in Ohio during these prosperous times are both able and willing to pay their fair share of the public burdens, and are not much interested in the Johnson plan for the application of Henry George's wild theories in respect to taxation.

The attempt on the life of President McKinley should unite every Republican in Ohio to the support of the principles which the president represents.

WORTH A THOUGHT

This Statement Will Interest Scores of East Liverpool Readers.

The facts given below are worth a perusal by all who are anxious about their physical condition or are similarly situated to this resident of East Liverpool. It is a legal occurrence and can be investigated.

Mr. William Terrence, fireman at engine house No. 1, says: "For some time I was annoyed with symptoms of either weakened or over-excited kidneys. I had noticed more than one recommendation made by people living in East Liverpool about Doan's Kidney Pills, and thinking that if the medicine performed half what it promised it might help me, I bought a box at Larkin's drug store. The treatment cured me."

OUR PROSPERITY.

The Financial Chronicle computes that 55 roads earned (gross) for the third week in August $10,660,733, an increase of $1,022,263, or 11.33 per cent.; for the fourth week in August 42 roads report $12,480,395, an increase of $1,289,287, or 11.52 per cent. These are wonderful gains, when it is considered that they are compared with 1900, itself a year of remarkable gains right straight through. "Let well enough alone" is a good old rule, but still better is it not to kick over such improvements as these.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Of a National Character to Be Held in Washington Sunday Afternoon.

ROOSEVELT TO MAKE REMARKS.

President and Cabinet to Attend. Ministers of All Denominations to Be Present—Gage Issues a Eulogy on Late President.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Arrangements are about completed for the national memorial services to be held in honor of President McKinley at Chase's Grand Opera House Sunday afternoon.

President Roosevelt and his cabinet will attend and the president will make a few remarks. Secretary Long has ordered the Marine band to participate and well-known vocalists will sing the late president's favorite hymns.

Ministers of all denominations in the city will attend. The services are expected to last about two hours.

Secretary Gage issued an announcement of the death of President McKinley yesterday in an issue of "Treasury Decisions," in which he paid an eloquent tribute to the late president's memory.

IN LATE PRESIDENT'S MEMORY.

State Department Advised of Memorial Services Held in Foreign Lands and Porto Rico.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Among the memorial services held in honor of the late President William McKinley, and which have been the subject of communications to the state department, were these:

From United States Minister Lord, at Buenos Ayres.
From Minister McCormick, at Vienna, Austria.
From British Consul Ludovic Soderstrom, at Quito.
From United States Consul Greener, at Vladivostok.

The navy department received a telegram from Lieutenant Commander Lucien Young, captain of the port of Havana, telling of services there.

Governor Hunt, of Porto Rico, sent a telegram containing the following:

"San Juan de Porto Rico, Sept. 20, 1901.

"Hon. John Hay, Secretary of State, Washington:

OLD WAR COMRADE OF

MCKINLEY'S SPOKE.

"Great memorial meeting was held here yesterday by Porto Rican people, in honor of President McKinley. Several thousand present; many turned away unable to enter. Distinguished Porto Ricans, representative lawyers, business men, planters and laboring men, made eloquent addresses. The president was Andre Crozas, prominent native, who fought in army of Potomac with President McKinley. President's portrait on stage draped; decorations were extensive. Similar meetings were held throughout the island. Business was entirely suspended, and all political feeling put aside. By request, I spoke a few words, reading your cable, which was much appreciated. The current sentiment was that the late president's acts will always live, and that the Porto Ricans owe lasting gratitude to his memory.

Hunt."

The state department received a message of condolence from the sultan of Zanzibar.

VISITED HUSBAND'S TOMB.

Mrs. McKinley Drives to West Lawn Cemetery—Health Continues Reassuring.

Canton, O., Sept. 21.—Shortly after noon yesterday Mrs. McKinley expressed a desire to be taken to the cemetery. This request was readily acceded to by Dr. Rixey, who, with an attendant, escorted her to a closed carriage. They were accompanied by Mrs. Barber. At the cemetery a throng, which quickly gathered about the carriage, was dispersed by the soldiers on guard, and Mrs. McKinley was driven over the lawn directly in front of the vault. The military guard gave a formal salute. When she saw the beautiful array of floral pieces Mrs. McKinley expressed gratification, but was apprehensive lest injury be done her husband's body.

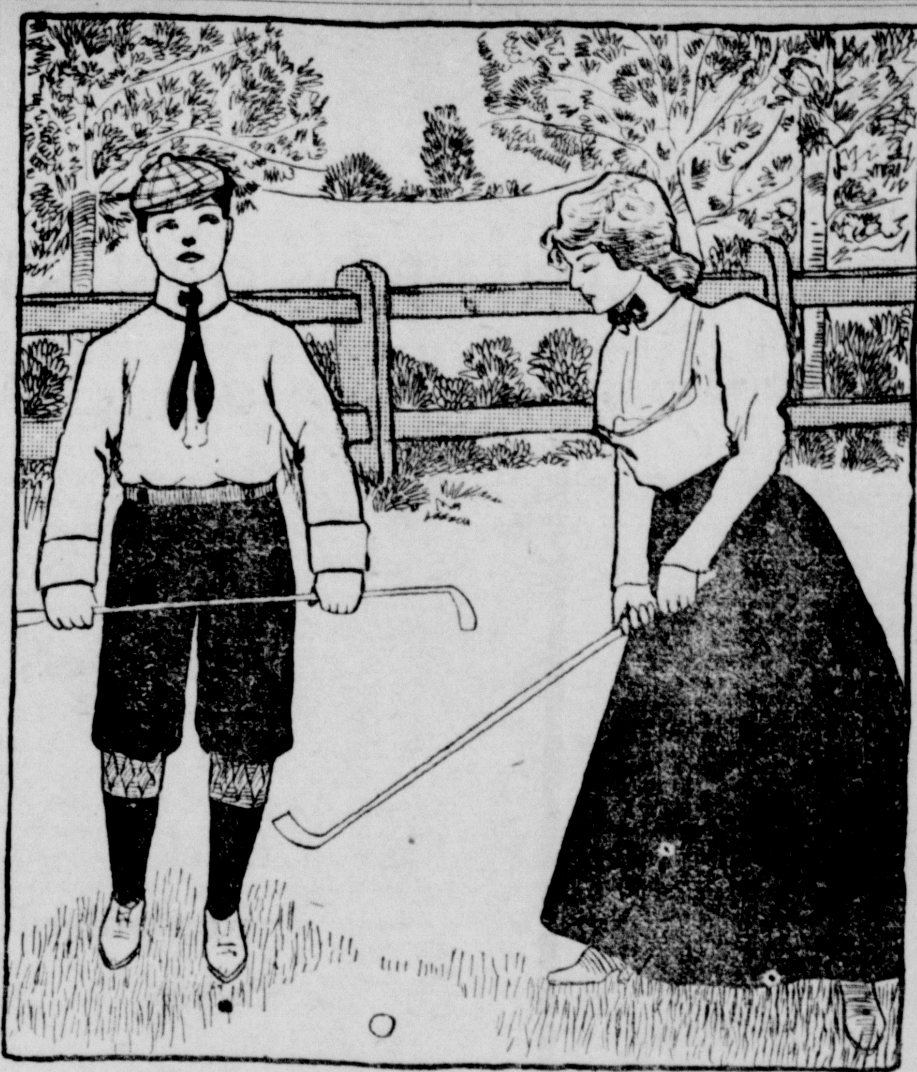

She was assured by Dr. Rixey that the military guard would be maintained 90 days, at the expiration of which time the body would be securely placed in the vault and locked.

"I am happy over the effect of the drive on Mrs. McKinley," said Dr. Rixey when the party returned to the house. "She is much better this morning and I have finally achieved success in getting her to take an interest in affairs going on in Canton. She asked many questions while riding and seemed in good spirits."

SOME SUBSCRIPTIONS

FOR MCKINLEY MONUMENT.

Pittsburg, Sept. 21.—In all probability a monument will be erected at some suitable point in Allegheny county as a memorial to the martyred McKinley. Several individual funds are being raised by citizens of the county for this purpose. The matter was first broached Thursday evening, at the regular meeting of Lieutenant Friend W. Jenkins' camp No. 16, service men of the Spanish war, of Allegheny. The camp promised to contribute $25 to the general fund. Sharpshooter and Etna citizens have pledged $1,500, and many individual subscriptions from all parts of the county are being accumulated. Up to date no banking or trust company has been decided upon as custodian of the general fund.

BISHOPS CONDUCTED SERVICES.

Remains Interred Underneath the Chancel of the Episcopal Cathedral, at Faribault—Business Suspended During the Hours of the Funeral.

Faribault, Minn., Sept. 21.—Faribault was again in mourning, for the earthly remains of Bishop Whipple were consigned to their last resting place. The services were solemn and impressive, and were witnessed by thousands of people, only a portion of whom could gain admittance to the cathedral where the final exercises took place. The bishop's body lay in state in the cathedral from about 11:30 a. m. to about 1:30 p. m., and was viewed by thousands.

The funeral service began about 2 o'clock and was conducted according to the ritual of the Episcopal church. Business of all kinds was suspended during the hours of the funeral. The services were conducted by Bishop Tuttle, of Missouri, who was assisted by Bishops Edsall, Millsap, Morrison, of Duluth; Morrison, of Iowa; Hare and Grafton, and a large delegation of clergy.

At the close of the service the body was lowered into the crypt beneath the chancel of the cathedral, where it was being walled up in solid masonry. Several hundred Sioux and Chippewa Indians were in the city to attend the funeral of their lifelong friend.

LATE PRESIDENT'S INSURANCE

Latest Authority Claiming to Be Certain, Places It at $315,000.

Cleveland, Sept. 21.—"Finance" was expected to say today: "The amount of life insurance carried by President McKinley has been a subject of considerable discussion through the newspapers and some of the insurance journals. 'Finance' has ascertained that President McKinley carried $315,000 in life insurance policies, which were distributed as follows: One hundred thousand each in the Equitable Life, New York Life and the Mutual Life Insurance companies, of New York; $10,000 in the Connecticut Mutual, and $5,000 in the Michigan Mutual, of Detroit.

"President McKinley was written for $5,000 in the Michigan Mutual Life in 1873, which for 10 years remained, and then was increased by another $5,000 policy, written by Joseph S. Saxton. For a number of years he carried a policy of $5,000 in the Connecticut Mutual Life, which was taken out when there was no agent of this company in Canton.

SORROW AFFECTED MARKETS

Nation's Grief Was Appreciably Felt in the Trading Centers—Business Failures.

New York, Sept. 21.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, said in part:

Universal sorrow placed a calming hand on the rush and turmoil of the market place. Everything that could be conveniently postponed was put aside out of respect for the man whose life was devoted to developing the wonderful activity in all branches of trade and industry. Exchanges suspended operations for two days, and the distribution of merchandise was in many cases limited to immediate requirements. Mercantile payments continue prompt, but it was to be expected that bank exchanges would not show the customary heavy gains over previous years. At leading cities outside New York there was a gain of 0.8 per cent over 1900 and a loss of 7.0 from 1899. Yet prices were stronger, and there were many indications of great latent power that may be expected to appear as normal conditions return.

After two months of controversy at the steel mills a settlement has been reached, although the terms are not entirely satisfactory to the Amalgamated association, and there is much complaint among the men regarding the conduct of the strike. Managers are confident that the outcome means no further interruption to work for a long period, and there is hope of making up for much of the delay by operating overtime. In preparing for an exceptionally active year in 1902 some of the largest mills are to double their capacity.

In dry goods the feature of the week was the phenomenal movement of mourning goods, which advanced in price as the available supply was reduced. Mills having stocks of crepe and bunting were able to dispose of everything on hand, and large shipments went west.

Woolen goods remain firm, but quiet, while the wool market is hard-pressed by advances at the London auction sale.

Corn has met with another setback. After passing through the vicissitudes of heat and drought, which curtailed the crop severely, notwithstanding an unusually large acreage, it was subjected to the other extreme of temperature. How much injury was done by frost cannot yet be determined, but reports were sufficient to force prices to an exceptionally high point on Tuesday. It was not possible to retain all the advance, and there was evidence of much manipulation during the movement. Wheat is stronger with less speculative support and more actual cash demand.

Failures for the week numbered 157 in the United States, against 211 last year, and 26 in Canada, against 33 last year.

MONEY MARKET OUTLOOK.

Received Consideration of Speculators in Stock Market on Friday.

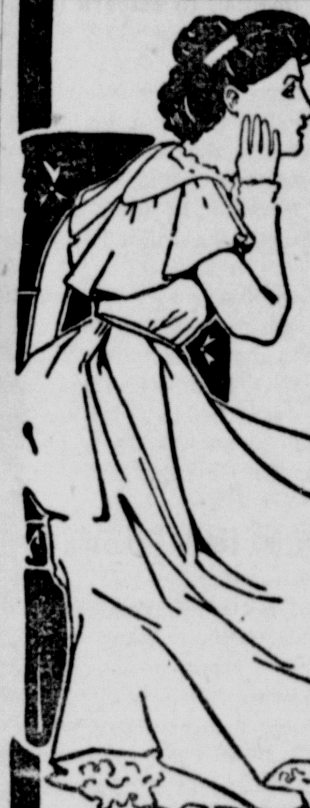

New York, Sept. 21.—The principal incident in Friday's stock market was the recurrence to the consideration of speculators of the money market outlook. The unexpectedly heavy movement of currency to the interior for the week by express, as reported by the banks, was the immediate cause of this development. The early advance in the stock market was checked when the published estimates made their appearance, and prices sold off, practically wiping out the earlier gains. The estimates do not include Friday's operations, and as Thursday was a holiday and practically no business was done on Saturday, the showing is for only four days. Yet the shipments of money to the interior by the banks were the heaviest of any week in the season, reaching $5,389,256, compared with $3,737,818 last week. Allowing for the receipts the net loss by the banks on the express movement was nearly $3,000,000. This is a considerable offset to the gain on sub-treasury operations, which reached, up to Thursday night, $11,847,000. As the extraordinary measures of the treasury for the relief of the money market have about exhausted their force, the effect next week of the heavy interior demand become somewhat disquieting. The loan item in today's bank statement is also to be reckoned with in connection with the fact of subscription by the banks to several large municipal bond issues. The announcement late in the day of a engagement of $500,000 in gold at Paris for import had only a slight effect on the market, as the exchange rates is con-

Woman's Horror

Modest women dread to consult a doctor about diseases peculiar to their sex. They have a horror of private examinations and surgical operations. For this reason treatment of dangerous derangements is neglected. But the Wine of Cardui treatment, which can be adopted at home without the knowledge of any one but the patient herself, is now coming into general use. Women who take Wine of Cardui do not have to submit to a physician's local examination nor to a surgical operation. Wine of Cardui cures in the privacy of the home. No publicity, no cutting and torture and no physician or examination, while Wine of Cardui is quietly building up and strengthening the female organs. Menstruation is regulated, the drains of leucorrhea stopped and the fallen womb restored to its place. The terrible pains which rack the body are but results of the ailments, which yield so readily to the soothing properties of Wine of Cardui. The medicine that cured Miss Garlen will certainly help you.

Wine of Cardui

Rockford, Tenn., Aug. 15, 1899. I have suffered for a long time for five years. Last spring a year ago I was bedfast for six months. I paid $2 to one doctor, and he said he had done all he could for me. I had about given up, but called another doctor, who said I would have to have surgical treatment. I decided I might as well die a natural death as that. I happened to get a hold of a Ladies' Birthday Almanac, and decided to try your treatment. In nine days after I commenced taking Wine of Cardui and Black-Draught I could walk across my room, and in three weeks I made myself a dress. This was after my neighbors, and even my brothers and sisters, said I would never be any better. I am now in good health. Miss S. B. GARLEN.

MEMORIAL SERVICES

Of a National Character to Be Held in Washington Sunday Afternoon.

ROOSEVELT TO MAKE REMARKS.

President and Cabinet to Attend. Ministers of All Denominations to Be Present—Gage Issues a Eulogy on Late President.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Arrangements are about completed for the national memorial services to be held in honor of President McKinley at Chase's Grand Opera house Sunday afternoon.

President Roosevelt and his cabinet will attend and the president will make a few remarks. Secretary Long has ordered the Marine band to participate and well-known vocalists will sing the late president's favorite hymns.

Ministers of all denominations in the city will attend. The services are expected to last about two hours.

Secretary Gage issued an announcement of the death of President McKinley yesterday in an issue of "Treasury Decisions," in which he paid an eloquent tribute to the late president's memory.

IN LATE PRESIDENT'S MEMORY.

State Department Advised of Memorial Services Held in Foreign Lands and Porto Rico.

Washington, Sept. 21.—Among the memorial services held in honor of the late President William McKinley, and which have been the subject of communications to the state department, were these:

From United States Minister Lord, at Buenos Ayres.
From Minister McCormick, at Vienna, Austria.
From British Consul Ludovic Soderstrom, at Quito.
From United States Consul Green, at Vladivostok.

The navy department received a telegram from Lieutenant Commander Lucien Young, captain of the port of Havana, telling of services there.

Governor Hunt, of Porto Rico, sent a telegram containing the following:

"Hon. John Hay, Secretary of State, Washington:

OLD WAR COMRADE OF
MCKINLEY'S SPOKE.

"Great memorial meeting was held here yesterday by Porto Rican people, in honor of President McKinley. Several thousand present; many turned away unable to enter. Distinguished Porto Ricans, representative lawyers, business men, planters and laboring men, made eloquent addresses. The president was Andre Crozas, prominent native, who fought in army of Potomac with President McKinley. President's portrait on stage draped; decorations were held throughout the island. Business was entirely suspended, and all political feeling put aside. By request, I spoke a few words, reading your cable, which was much appreciated. The current sentiment was that the late president's acts will always live, and that the Porto Ricans owe lasting gratitude to his memory."
Hunt.

The state department received a message of condolence from the Sultan of Zanzibar.

VISITED HUSBAND'S TOMB.

Mrs. McKinley Drives to West Lawn Cemetery—Health Continues Reassuring.

Canton, O., Sept. 21.—Shortly after noon yesterday Mrs. McKinley expressed a desire to be taken to the cemetery. This request was readily acceded to by Dr. Rixey, who, with an attendant, escorted her to a closed carriage. They were accompanied by Mrs. Barber. At the cemetery a throng, which quickly gathered about the carriage, was dispersed by the soldiers on guard, and Mrs. McKinley was driven over the lawn directly in front of the vault. The military guard gave a formal salute. When she saw the beautiful array of floral pieces Mrs. McKinley expressed gratification, but was apprehensive lest injury be done her husband's body.

She was assured by Dr. Rixey that the military guard would be maintained 90 days, at the expiration of which time the body would be securely placed in the vault and locked. "I am happy over the effect of the drive on Mrs. McKinley," said Dr. Rixey when the party returned to the house. "She is much better this morning and I have finally achieved success in getting her to take an interest in affairs going on in Canton. She asked many questions while riding and seemed in good spirits."

SOME SUBSCRIPTIONS

FOR MCKINLEY MONUMENT.

Pittsburg, Sept. 21.—In all probability a monument will be erected at some suitable point in Allegheny county as a memorial to the martyred McKinley. Several individual funds are being raised by citizens of the county for this purpose. The matter was first broached Thursday evening, at the regular meeting of Lieutenant Friend W. Jenkins' camp No. 16, service men of the Spanish war, of Allegheny. The camp promised to contribute $25 to the general fund. Sharpshooter and Etna citizens have pledged $1,500, and many individual subscriptions from all parts of the county are being accumulated. Up to date no banking or trust company has been decided upon as custodian of the general fund.

BISHOPS CONDUCTED SERVICES.

Remains Interred Underneath the Chancel of the Episcopal Cathedral, at Faribault—Business Suspended During the Hours of the Funeral.

Faribault, Minn., Sept. 21.—Faribault was again in mourning, for the earthly remains of Bishop Whipple were consigned to their last resting place. The services were solemn and impressive, and were witnessed by thousands of people, only a portion of whom could gain admittance to the cathedral where the final exercises took place. The bishop's body lay in state in the cathedral from about 11:30 a. m. to about 1:30 p. m., and was viewed by thousands.

The funeral service began about 2 o'clock and was conducted according to the ritual of the Episcopal church. Business of all kinds was suspended during the hours of the funeral. The services were conducted by Bishop Tuttle, of Missouri, who was assisted by Bishops Edsall, Millsap, Morrison, of Duluth; Morrison, of Iowa; Hare and Grafton, and a large delegation of clergy.

At the close of the service the body was lowered into the crypt beneath the chancel of the cathedral, where it was being waited up in solid masonry. Several hundred Sioux and Chippewa Indians were in the city to attend the funeral of their lifelong friend.

LATE PRESIDENT'S INSURANCE

Latest Authority Claiming to Be Certain, Places It at $315,000.

Cleveland, Sept. 21.—"Finance" was expected to say today:

"The amount of life insurance carried by President McKinley has been a subject of considerable discussion through the newspapers and some of the insurance journals. 'Finance' has ascertained that President McKinley carried $315,000 in life insurance policies, which were distributed as follows: One hundred thousand each in the Equitable Life, New York Life and the Mutual Life Insurance companies, of New York; $10,000 in the Connecticut Mutual, and $5,000 in the Michigan Mutual, of Detroit.

"President McKinley was written for $5,000 in the Michigan Mutual Life in 1873, which for 10 years remained, and then was increased by another $5,000 policy, written by Joseph S. Saxton. For a number of years he carried a policy of $5,000 in the Connecticut Mutual Life, which was taken out when there was no agent of this company in Canton.

SORROW AFFECTED MARKETS

Nation's Grief Was Appreciably Felt in the Trading Centers—Business Failures.

New York, Sept. 21.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade, issued today, said in part:

Universal sorrow placed a calming hand on the rush and turmoil of the market place. Everything that could be conveniently postponed was put aside out of respect for the man whose life was devoted to developing the wonderful activity in all branches of trade and industry. Exchanges suspended operations for two days, and the distribution of merchandise was in many cases limited to immediate requirements. Mercantile payments continue prompt, but it was to be expected that bank exchanges would not show the customary heavy gains over previous years. At leading cities outside New York there was a gain of 0.8 per cent over 1900 and a loss of 7.0 from 1899. Yet prices were stronger, and there were many indications of great latent power that may be expected to appear as normal conditions return.

After two months of controversy at the steel mills a settlement has been reached, although the terms are not entirely satisfactory to the Amalgamated association, and there is much complaint among the men regarding the conduct of the strike. Managers are confident that the outcome means no further interruption to work for a long period, and there is hope of making up for much of the delay by operating overtime. In preparing for an exceptionally active year in 1902 some of the largest mills are to double their capacity.

In dry goods the feature of the week was the phenomenal movement of mourning goods, which advanced in price as the available supply was reduced. Mills having stocks of crepe and hutting were able to dispose of everything on hand, and large shipments went west.

Woolen goods remain firm, but quiet, while the wool market is hard-pressed by advances at the London auction sale. Corn has met with another setback. After passing through the vicissitudes of heat and drought, which curtailed the crop severely, notwithstanding an unusually large acreage, it was subjected to the other extreme of temperature. How much injury was done by frost cannot yet be determined, but reports were sufficient to force prices to an exceptionally high point on Tuesday. It was not possible to retain all the advance, and there was evidence of much manipulation during the movement. Wheat is stronger with less speculative support and more actual cash demand.

Failures for the week numbered 157 in the United States, against 211 last year, and 26 in Canada, against 33 last year.

MONEY MARKET OUTLOOK.

Received Consideration of Speculators in Stock Market on Friday.

New York, Sept. 21.—The principal incident in Friday's stock market was the recurrence to the consideration of speculators of the money market outlook. The unexpectedly heavy movement of currency to the interior for the week by express, as reported by the banks, was the immediate cause of this development. The early advance in the stock market was checked when the published estimates made their appearance, and prices sold off, practically wiping out the earlier gains. The estimates do not include Friday's operations, and as Thursday was a holiday and practically no business was done on Saturday, the showing is for only four days. Yet the shipments of money to the interior by the banks were the heaviest of any week in the season, reaching $5,389,256, compared with $3,727,818 last week. Allowing for the receipts the net loss by the banks on the express movement was nearly $3,000,000. This is a considerable offset to the gain on sub-treasury operations, which reached, up to Thursday night, $11,847,000. As the extraordinary measures of the treasury for the relief of the money market have about exhausted their force, the effect next week of the heavy interior demand becomes somewhat disquieting. The loan item in today's bank statement is also to be reckoned with in connection with the fact of subscription by the banks to several large municipal bond issues. The announcement late in the day of a pledge of $500,000 in gold at Paris for import had only a slight effect on the market, as the exchange rates is con-

Woman's Horror

Modest women dread to consult a doctor about diseases peculiar to their sex. They have a horror of private examinations and surgical operations. For this reason treatment of dangerous derangements is neglected. But the Wine of Cardui treatment, which can be adopted at home without the knowledge of any one but the patient herself, is now coming into general use. Women who take Wine of Cardui do not have to submit to a physician's local examination nor to a surgical operation. Wine of Cardui cures in the privacy of the home. No publicity, no cutting and torture and no physician or examination, while Wine of Cardui is quietly building up and strengthening the female organs. Menstruation is regulated, the drains of leucorrhea stopped and the fallen womb restored to its place. The terrible pains which rack the body are but results of the ailments, which yield so readily to the soothing properties of Wine of Cardui. The medicine that cured Miss Garlen will certainly help you.

Wine of Cardui

Rockford, Tenn., Aug. 16, 1899.

I had about given up, but called another doctor, who said I would have to have surgical treatment. I decided I might as well die a natural death as that. I happened to get hold of a Ladies' Birthday Almanac, and decided to try your treatment. sidered too high to bring any considerable amount of gold yet. The rate Friday continued steady and was affected by the large selling of stocks for London account under the disturbing influence of a considerable military success for the Boers. The violent and erratic fluctuations in Amalgamated Copper were also disturbing influences in market. During the early rise in prices the same influences prevailed as for some time past, especially the conviction that a plan is progressing for the merger of all the Vanderbilt railroads by the formation of a financial company to hold the stocks of the various railroad companies.

Railroad bonds were moderately active and strong. Total sales, par value, $3,489,000. United States bonds were all unchanged on the last call.

HOME AFFAIRS.

Brief Notes of a Personal Nature And of Matters About Town.

- Suit to Recover Money—W. G. Saint has brought suit in Justice Rose's court against W. A. Shay and M. E. Thomas to recover $121.55, which he alleges is due him on a promissory note. The case will be tried next Friday afternoon.
- Will Preach Tomorrow—Rev. W. H. Gladden returned home from Waynesburg last evening, where he has been visiting his mother. The reverend gentleman will occupy his pulpit at the First M. P. church tomorrow. All services as usual.
- Sustained a Heavy Fall—A woman, whose name was not learned, slipped on a piece of banana peeling near the corner of Sixth and Jackson streets and sustained a heavy fall, which stunned her for several minutes. One of her arms was badly bruised.
- Claimed Money for Board—Mrs. Mary E. Clark brought suit against Mike Malone, in Justice McCarron's court, for $6, which she claimed was due her for board. The defendant's wages were attached, but he signed an agreement to pay the amount and the case was dismissed.
- Replacing a Wrecked Car—While switching in the yards opposite the passenger station the pony got a car off the track, the front trucks being knocked to the center of the car, and it almost went over the river bank. A force of men were at work yesterday replacing the trucks on the rails.
- Many Stranded at Canton—Officer Davidson returned from Canton last night, where he took Clarence Malone to the workhouse. He states that the city was yet crowded with people last night. Many persons from a distance paid their last penny to get there and are now unable to get back home.
- Lost His Horse—A farmer named Rowell, of near Clarkson, left his horse standing in front of a Fifth street grocery this morning and when he returned found the animal missing. It was later located in an alley a few blocks away just as Mr. Rowell had started to the police station, as he believed his horse had been stolen.
- Justice McLane Back—After an absence from the city of about two weeks, Justice Daniel McLane returned last evening from Buffalo in company with Mack Anderson, who also visited the exposition. Both were in attendance at the national G. A. R. encampment at Cleveland previous to going to Buffalo. Mr. McLane says he had a very enjoyable time.
- Boys in a Fight—A boy named Beckley, aged about 12, and another boy about the same age, fought a short, but somewhat bloody battle at fistfuffs on Fourth street at noon. The Beckley lad came out second best and when his companions came to his rescue his adversary had his head against a curbstone and was putting an additional pair of eyes on him. His nose also resembled a luscious tomato at the finish.
- The Throttling of Anarchy—Suggestions are pouring in on President Roosevelt as to legislation looking to the throttling of anarchy and men everywhere are giving careful thought to the problem. Something must be done—what shall it be? Oscar L. Owens, of Rochester, N. Y., will speak on "The First Anarchist And Others," at the Y. M. C. A. hall tomorrow afternoon at 4 p. m. Mr. Owens is a scholarly, thoughtful young man and will doubtless give his hearers some thoughts worth considering.
- Stylish hats, $1.48, $2.00 and $2.50. See our new styles at Joseph Bros.

- RATS KILLED THEM
The Reason a Sixth Street Rabbitry Failed to Prosper.
A Sixth street young man several months ago decided to embark in the rabbit business, and erecting a pen, bought several bunnies. All went well for a short time and he succeeded in making a good profit, but he discovered one morning that two of his animals were missing. He could not think what became of them and almost every morning another had disappeared.
Thinking somebody was robbing the pen he started to watch a few evenings ago. He soon discovered the culprits were rats. He now has but three rabbits left and he is thinking seriously of making somebody a present of them and quitting the business.
- WORK BEING PUSHED
The Chester Mill Will Be Ready to Start Before Many Days.
Work is being pushed at the mill and before many more days go by it is expected it will be in operation. Two of the mills are completed and the others will probably be completed next week. The furnaces will also be completed, and all but two of the bricklayers who have been working on them will quit tonight. Scarcity of material has delayed this work.
Work was started this morning erecting the fence around the mill.

BEER MADE TROUBLE

OWNER BECAME ANGRY AND STRUCK HIS TORMENTORS.

He Was Attacked With Clubs and Forced to Flee—Saved the Beer.

A German with a wheelbarrow and a keg of beer was the amusement in the Diamond about 7:30 o'clock last night. The man came down Sixth street with the beer for the purpose of catching a car for the East End. A friend of his who resides in that portion of the city was to leave today for New Castle, where he had accepted a position as jiggerman and he intended to give him a farewell reception. All went well until he reached the corner of Sixth and East Market streets, where the keg fell off. There was a crowd of young boys loafing at the entrance to the theater and they commenced to guy him. He was not in any too good a humor any how, and at this became very angry and struck one of the boys. This was more than the crowd could stand and they went for him with clubs, running him into a nearby store. After muttering several minutes he succeeded in getting the beer on the car, when he took his wheelbarrow and departed.

LECTURE-ENTERTAINMENT

Five Illustrated Lectures And Entertainments to Be Given in Y. M. C. A. Hall.

Prof. B. F. Beardsley, of Hartford, Conn., will give a series of five illustrated lectures and entertainments in Y. M. C. A. hall, beginning Monday evening next, when Practical Physiology and Personal Hygiene, the art of preserving health, will be elaborately illustrated. Many beautifully colored stereopticon pictures, illustrating popular songs and humorous stories, and a splendid anatomical display, costing several thousand dollars in Paris, will be exhibited each evening. Change of program every night. Admission, first night, 25 cents or a first night complimentary ticket. Come first night and you will come again. Doors open at 7:15, city time; begins at 8 precisely.

The dates of these five illustrated lectures and entertainments are Sept. 23, 24, 25, 26 and 27.

ROOSEVELT MET CABINET.

Reiterated Intention to Follow Late President's Policies.

Washington, Sept. 21.—President Roosevelt held a cabinet meeting and reiterated his intention to carry out the late president's policies. He again asked the cabinet members to remain in office. Each member, with the exception of Attorney General Knox, who is out of the city again, said that they would remain in the cabinet as long as his services were needed.

The president's former secretary, Mr. Leeb, Jr., will remain with him and probably as assistant secretary. Mr. Cortelyou, at the president's earnest request, will retain his position as his secretary.

The president has appointed Colonel James M. Bell, Eighth cavalry, and president of the military board of review, to be a brigadier general, vice Brigadier General Ludlow, deceased. General Bell will retire about Oct. 1, thus leaving a vacancy for another appointment.

Monday, Sept. 23, being a holiday, our store will be closed until 6 p. m. ERLANGER & CO.

Store Closed Monday.
Our store will be closed Monday; open in the evening after 6 o'clock. THE BON TON.

CLOSED MONDAY.
ON ACCOUNT OF A HOLIDAY, OUR STORE WILL BE CLOSED MONDAY UNTIL 6:30 O'CLOCK. OPEN IN THE EVENING. WE WOULD KINDLY ASK OUR CUSTOMERS TO EITHER DO THEIR SHOPPING TODAY OR WAIT UNTIL MONDAY EVENING. THE STAR BARGAIN STORE.

TO THE PUBLIC.

It has been currently reported that on or about Saturday, Sept. 14, in a conversation between myself and J. Q. Boring, of the Bon Ton Meat Market, that the said Boring had said or intimated that the assassin of the late President McKinley had done his duty. I wish to state here that no such words were uttered and through a misunderstanding between myself and other parties the story was started. I do not desire an innocent man should suffer and take this method of explaining to the public that I believe Mr. Boring to be a strictly straight American citizen and worthy the confidence of the general public.

W. R. MCKINNON.

RESOLUTIONS.

These resolutions were adopted at the meeting of Trades and Labor Council, Sept. 18, 1901:

Whereas, It has pleased our gracious Creator to take to Himself our revered president, William McKinley; be it

Resolved, That East Liverpool Trades and Labor Council do extend its most sincere sympathy to Mrs. McKinley in this, her hour of sorrow; and be it further,

Resolved, That we do most heartily condemn the teachings which could breed, under the guise of freedom the lawlessness of the murderer;

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this Council and published in the daily papers.

A friend of his who resides in that portion of the city was to leave today for New Castle, where he had accepted a position as jiggerman and he intended to give him a farewell reception. All went well until he reached the corner of Sixth and East Market streets, where the keg fell off.

There was a crowd of young boys loafing at the entrance to the theater and they commenced to guy him. He was not in any too good a humor any how, and at this became very angry and struck one of the boys. This was more than the crowd could stand and they went for him with clubs, running him into a nearby store. After muttering several minutes he succeeded in getting the beer on the car, when he took his wheelbarrow and departed.

ROOSEVELT MET CABINET.

Reiterated Intention to Follow Late President's Policies.

Washington, Sept. 21.—President Roosevelt held a cabinet meeting and reiterated his intention to carry out the late president's policies. He again asked the cabinet members to remain in office. Each member, with the exception of Attorney General Knox, who is out of the city again, said that they would remain in the cabinet as long as his services were needed.

The president's former secretary, Mr. Leeb, Jr., will remain with him and probably as assistant secretary. Mr. Cortelyou, at the president's earnest request, will retain his position as his secretary.

The president has appointed Colonel James M. Bell, Eighth cavalry, and president of the military board of review, to be a brigadier general, vice Brigadier General Ludlow, deceased. General Bell will retire about Oct. 1, thus leaving a vacancy for another appointment.

Monday, Sept. 23, being a holiday, our store will be closed until 6 p. m.

TO THE PUBLIC.

It has been currently reported that on or about Saturday, Sept. 14, in a conversation between myself and J. Q. Boring, of the Bon Ton Meat Market, that the said Boring had said or intimated that the assassin of the late President McKinley had done his duty. I wish to state here that no such words were uttered and through a misunderstanding between myself and other parties the story was started. I do not desire an innocent man should suffer and take this method of explaining to the public that I believe Mr. Boring to be a strictly straight American citizen and worthy the confidence of the general public.

W. R. MCKINNON.

RESOLUTIONS.

These resolutions were adopted at the meeting of Trades and Labor Council, Sept. 18, 1901:

Whereas, It has pleased our gracious Creator to take to Himself our revered president, William McKinley; be it

Resolved, That East Liverpool Trades and Labor Council do extend its most sincere sympathy to Mrs. McKinley in this, her hour of sorrow; and be it further,

Resolved, That we do most heartily condemn the teachings which could breed, under the guise of freedom the lawlessness of the murderer;

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of this Council and published in the daily papers.
